RURAL CARRIERS
MEET HERE SUNDAYSixth District Rural Route Carriers
Will Hold Annual Meeting in Court House HereIS AN IMPORTANT AFFAIRHundreds Will be Here and Important Business Matters Will Come
Before Their Meeting

An all day meeting of the Rural Mail Carriers of the Sixth Congressional District will be held in this city on Sunday July 4, beginning at 10:00 o'clock, the meeting to be held in the Court House.

Among the most important subjects to be brought up at this meeting will be an effort to bring about the repeal of the 50 mile motor route law and the withdrawal of the present 50 mile routes, and the enactment of a law preventing any route being more than 30 miles in length, with increased salaries for standard routes of 24 miles, and the same rate of pay over that as paid for the first 24 miles.

Another subject of importance which will be discussed is the insurance feature whereby $300 will be paid to a carrier's family upon his death.

Mr. J. Cletus Stambaugh, a rural carrier of York, Pa., who has appeared before the Senate Post Office Committee and the Joint Commission on Postal Salaries will make the principal address. Mr. Stambaugh is also editor of the Rural Delivery Record, the only paper in the country owned and published by rural carriers. He is also a close friend of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Blaklee and can give the carriers some first hand information.

Every carrier in the sixth district should postpone any engagement he may have made for that day and attend this meeting, for it is through their organized efforts alone are rural carriers ever going to obtain sufficient salary to support himself and family as he should.

The meeting was called on Sunday as this is the only day the carriers could meet in conference, for they are busily engaged in the activities of their office during the other days of the week.

The officers of the organization are: F. D. Spann, president of Wirt Ind., W. A. Lovelace vice-president, of Sullivan, Ind., and Walter Eggers, secretary treasurer, of Roachdale, Ind., and all are expected to attend this conference. Members of the executive committee including C. G. Harris, of Indianapolis, G. H. McGlister, of Talbot Ind., and W. H. Moulton, of Parker, Ind., have sent word that they expect to attend if nothing prevents.

From all indications this meeting promises to be a very successful event and all rural carriers of this county are urged to be present to aid in carrying out the program and to prove that Rushville can be a very gracious host.

INTEREST GROWS NIGHTLYEvangelist Carter Preached Force-
Sermon Last Night

The revival meetings being conducted in the Coliseum in the City Park, continue to grow in interest each evening. Evangelist Carter preached a very uplifting sermon last night on "Crucifying Our Saviour". In part he said: "The Jews were not the only ones guilty of such a shameful crime but men and women of today are crucifying Him everytime they refuse to let Him have His way in their heart and life". The Holy Spirit was present in manifested power over the enemy last evening and a large crowd was present to hear the evangelist.

Meetings will still continue throughout the week and the public is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

—F. Walton Scott and John M. Scott, Jr. of Indianapolis are spending the week with their grandmother Mrs. Mary Walton of East Sixth street.

TWO MACHINES COLLIDEMachines of Mrs. Paul Morris and Ed Caldwell Run Together

Two machines collided this morning in front of the traction station but no serious damage was done, one machine was driven by Mrs. Paul Morris and in turning the corner at Third and Morgan ran to the wrong side of the street it is said, and in attempting to get to the right side collided with a machine driven by Edward Caldwell, who thought that the other machine was intending to stop at the Traction Station. He did not make any attempt to cross to the other side of the street but instead the Morris machine ran directly in front of the Caldwell machine causing the collision. The only damage done was a broken wind shield and a twisted front axle on the Morris machine while the other machine escaped with only a broken bumper. The occupants of both machines were unhurt.

BLISS AND COWING
WILL QUIT BUSINESSWell Known Clothing and Shoe Firm Announces Today That They Will go Out of ExistenceSAME LOCATION FOR 38 YEARS

Bliss and Cowing, for 21 years, an established clothing and shoe firm of this city, announced this morning that they were going out of business, and would offer their entire stock of over $75,000 worth of merchandise at a sale beginning next Thursday.

The clothing and shoe firm has been located in the same location, in the L. O. O. F. building, corner of Main and Second streets for 38 years, during which time Will Bliss has been in business. The first firm was known as Bliss and Wilson, then Bliss Brothers, later Mr. Bliss had the business by himself, and during the last 21 years it has been Bliss and Cowing. Joseph Cowing has been in the business in Rushville for 31 years, having formerly been a clerk in the other Bliss stores.

The retiring owners are undecided as to their future but it is said that Mr. Bliss will probably consider the establishment of a specialty store in a larger city and Mr. Cowing will probably retire and devote his attentions to his farm and other interests.

The stock of merchandise is considered the largest of its kind in this section of the state, and 15,000 sale bills are being printed at the Republican office, which will be distributed over eastern Indiana.

BICYCLE IS RECOVEREDSam Finney Gets Back Wheel That Police Gave Away

Sam Finney, proprietor of a local bicycle shop missed a bicycle yesterday, and learned that Clarence Driver, better known as "Doug" Driver was seen riding on the wheel, and when found refused to give it to Mr. Finney stating that Policeman Pea had given it to him. Finney took the matter up with Mayor Irvin, and the wheel was returned within two hours.

The boy told Finney that the policeman gave him the wheel for turning off the pedestal lights down town, early every morning, which is the duty of the policeman. Chief Wilfong and Policeman Pea called on Mr. Finney last night with the boy, and he still maintained that the wheel was given him for doing the policeman a favor, and refused to tell him that it was given him by another boy which the asserted the officers wanted him to tell.

DRY FOR A YEAR

Today was the first anniversary of the "Dry United States" saloons having gone out of business in this country one year ago today, July 1, 1919.

FLATROCK RIVER IS REPLENISHEDTen Thousand Baby Fish of Many Kinds Are Deposited Today in Vicinity of RushvilleONLY A FEW BELOW TOWNMan in Charge Says That Shelby County is to be Cut Out Because of Fish Law Violations

Flatrock river, above and below Rushville was supplied today with several thousand fish, and an officer from the state conservation department was here and distributed the fish in different places around Rushville, so that the sport of fishing will not become extinct in the future months.

The Rushville Fish and Game Protective association, which was formed here this spring among local sportsmen, was largely responsible for the replenishing of Flatrock, as they made application a few weeks ago for five thousand fish, but today at least 10,000 fish of different kind arrived for the streams.

The fish were shipped here in large cans, resembling milk cans, and in one can alone there was 2,000 small sun fish, and besides the sun fish, there were several thousand bass of different species and several thousand small cat fish.

Several of the cans were taken on a truck to the Green and Green farm where a large quantity was deposited in the river above the dam, and other cans were emptied as far north as the Pennsylvania bridge.

Only a few cans were emptied south of the Main street bridge, and the man in charge of the work stated that the state was attempting to bar good fishing from the streams that ran through Shelby county, and at the same time wished to warn local fishermen to obey the game and fish laws, so that Rush county would be given a supply when the fish had been properly angled and the supply was getting low.

In speaking of his motive for not placing more fish in the streams below the city, he said:

"The state conservation commission has cut Shelby county off its list and hereafter no fish will be assigned to that county for re-stocking its streams. The reason for this drastic judgment is the fact that the Shelby county courts refuse to punish the violators of the fish law, the offenders taken red-handed in the act of looting the streams illegally being turned loose to continue their nefarious work.

"Since Shelby county refuses to play the game, it is proposed that she play it in streams made barren by the lawlessness of her own citizens. No doubt a few years' experience with this sort of "sport" will bring the people of that community to its senses and cause them to realize that outlawry is not a paying proposition.

"In the meantime other counties in the state which are prone to follow Shelby county's example would do well to take heed of Shelby county's embarrassment. The state of Indiana does not propose to stock lakes and streams for the benefit of wasteful poachers and pot hunters. If the people will not protect their own interests, the state will discontinue its service."

John Rich, 80 Years Old,
Doesn't Intend to Retire

John Rich of Falmouth is not a retired farmer in any sense of the word, and he doesn't intend to become one either. When a man gets to be in the sixties and has a large farm—with a good income, the custom nowadays is to move into town—and retire. Mr. Rich however was 80 years old May 13 and today he was out plowing in his large potato patch and "broke his horse to the single line and spent the day in the patch," which is nothing out of the ordinary for him to do.

WARNS AGAINST TWO INSPECTOR IMPOSTERSProperty Owners Are Fleece When
Two Men Claim to be Health
Inspectors For The CityACCEPT MONEY; DON'T WORK

Two imposters have worked a smooth game on two or three Rushville property owners in the last day or so, according to Frank Havens, city health inspector. Mr. Havens says that complaints have reached him that two men, whose names are known by him, are representing themselves to be health inspectors, and are making property owners clean out unsanitary vaults, pretending to do the work themselves, and receiving eight dollars for the work.

Mr. Havens was called yesterday, and investigated a complaint made by Miss Alice Norris of North Harrison street, who owns rental property in another section of the city. She told about the two men coming and securing eight dollars from her, but the vaults were never cleaned, nor were they ever condemned by the city health inspector.

Property owners who are approached by these men should notify the police, as only Mr. Havens has authority to condemn unsanitary conditions. The two men will be asked to return the money, or else arrests will be made, because they impersonated an officer and fraudulently accepted money.

CITY IS FREE FROM DISEASESMonthly Summary For June Dis-closes That Rushville is a Healthful PlaceNO FIRE LOSS EITHER"June Brides" Fell Short, More Than Deaths and Police Court
Was Busy

The month of June passed by quietly in Rushville, more so in fact than any month recently has done, as the different summaries of the city's business show that there were no contagious diseases in the city during the month, and there was also no loss from fire.

The health office reports for the city show a clean record for June, which speaks very encouraging for the city. During the month previous, there were eleven cases of contagious diseases.

The fire department during June responded to only two alarms, and in either case there was no fire loss. Two runs for one month is also a record for minimum runs, as compared with nine for January, the highest for the year so far.

June brides fell down on the job this year, even if it happens to be "leap year," as county clerk Loren Martin issued only ten marriage licenses during the "month of brides." November seem to be the month of marriages here, as last November the record was broken with 37 licenses, or more than one a day.

Births ran ahead of the reaper during June, as the statistics obtained for the month reveals that there was only four deaths in the city, and nine birth.

Seven men were in police court during the month of June, which happens to break all records so far this year. During January and February the docket was blank, with the exception of violators who appeared on account of not having displayed tail lights, but during the first two months, no one was fined by the mayor.

Of the seven persons arraigned during June before Mayor Irvin, five of them were fined, one case was dismissed and the other was sent to the circuit court on an appeal after being found guilty in police court.

PROHIBITION PLANK IS STILL UNCERTAIN AT THE CONVENTION*WILL ADD 2 NEW TRAINSC. I. & W. Will Put on Through Trains July Eleventh

Word from B. A. Worthington, president of the C. I. & W. railroad, stated today that two additional passengers would be added to the present schedule on Sunday July 11, with two through Pullman trains between Cincinnati and Chicago. The train from Chicago will arrive here at about 4:50 in the morning, and the train for Chicago will stop here shortly after midnight, carrying sleepers, so that Rushville people may occupy them here, and reach Chicago early in the morning to spend the day, and can leave there at eleven o'clock on the same night, if they wish. L. C. Snodgrass, local agent has not received the definite schedule, but has been informed that a change will take place on that day.

CAN BRYAN BE ABLE TO REPEAT?This Question Overshadows Even
"Who Will be the Nominee"
Among The DelegatesRECALLS 24 YEARS AGOWhen Similar Circumstance Existed
And He Swayed The Party—
Cox's Name is Presented

San Francisco, July 1—Can Bryan repeat?

To many delegates in the national convention this question today overshadowed even: "Who will be the nominee?"

"Twenty-four years ago in a very similar circumstance, Bryan then 'the boy orator of the Platte,' by his eloquence so swayed the delegates to the national convention in the old coliseum at Chicago as to prevent the party going on record in favor of the gold standard.

Of course, there is no thought today of Bryan in the roll of nominee, but the party is just as divided on the wet and dry issue in this convention as it was on the gold standard in 1896.

There is no question but that Bryan is in even more earnest in his insistence upon putting a dry plank in the platform of 1920 than he was in his fight against the gold standard.

He is expected to fight on the floor against the making the league of nations the paramount issue as directed by President Wilson but his main effort is to be concentrated on the liquor question.

The administration forces to achieve the complete victory they had looked for in the resolution committee which did not break up until 3:30 a. m., were compelled by a vote of 32 to 18 to accept an addition to President Wilson's suggested plank, whereby no opposition to reservations that would make the league covenant clearer and more specific.

At the hour of adjournment the committee was still unable to agree upon the Irish and honor planks.

The convention floor fight over the liquor question probably will occur on the first anniversary of prohibition in the United States. One year ago today July 1, 1919, the war time prohibition went into effect.

McAdoo's candidacy appeared to have looked somewhat beyond control of self constituted managers who have been jockeying to keep his full strength on the first ballot. Cox people continued to express confidence that McAdoo would not win sufficient support to make a finish.

San Francisco, Calif., July 1.—Chairman Robinson called the democratic national convention in session today at 11:26 a. m.

The plan was to proceed with nominating speeches which were interrupted by a recess taken last night.

Robinson had great difficulty in getting order. Delegates were gossiping about the aisles. When quiet was obtained Bishop Nichols, Episcopal minister of San Francisco, asked Divine blessing on the meeting.

San Francisco, July 1.—The democratic platform as drafted by the subcommittee of nine and sub committee to the full committee declares for ratification of the peace treaty as a requisite to preserve the honor and integrity of the nation; suggests that the Irish question can be brought legitimately before the league of nations for settlement and is silent on the subject of prohibition.

Following is the result of leading proposals submitted to the full committee on resolutions by the sub committee.

They must be approved by the full committee before they can be put into the democratic platform for submission to the convention:

Wet and dry issues—The sub committee make no reference direct or indirect in its report to prohibition as an issue leaving the full committee to write a plank if they deemed it necessary on the subject.

WILL FILE EXCEPTION TO LAND VALUATIONJackson Township is Not Satisfied
to Pay $5,000 For Three Acres of GroundIS FIVE TIMES TOO HIGH

Alva Newhouse, school trustee of Jackson township by his attorneys will file exceptions Saturday to the $5,000 land appraisal value that was placed on three acres of ground which the court condemned for school grounds, and upon which a new consolidated township school building is to be erected.

The Jackson township trustee filed a complaint in circuit court recently asking that the land known as the Wilkerson land, be condemned for school purposes, and the court acted upon it favorably, and appointed Frank Sample, O. M. Siler and Jesse Leisure to act as appraisers and assess the land, which they recently placed at $5,000.

Young and Young, attorneys for the plaintiff, stated this morning that the appraisal was too high for only three acres of land which would make it cost, $1,666 an acre. They stated that $300 would be a fair estimate of the land value an acre. It is understood that a small shed is on the land but is of little value.

The attorneys stated that an exception would be filed Saturday, when court will be in session for the last time this term of court.

Make Study of Botulism.

A sum of money has been raised by the olive growers and the canning industry for an intensive study of botulism in California. According to Science, the investigation will be conducted in the laboratories of the Stanford University Medical school and the George William Hooper Foundation for Medical Research of the University of California, and the co-operation of the United States health service and the California state board of health. The investigation will include a careful study of the distribution of the bacillus botulinus in nature, of the ways in which food materials may become infected, and of the steps necessary to destroy the organism when it has infected raw food materials. A staff of specially trained workers has been employed, and it is expected that the work will require at least two years.

Impressing the Office Boy.

"The secret of success, son," said the boss to the new boy, "is absolute, complete consecration of time to business."

"Yes, sir."

"In our establishment, we never look at the clock—never look at the clock—"

"I won't sir."

"That's right, my boy. Never look at the clock when you're at the office. Never look at the clock except in the morning, look at the alarm clock, son—early to work, never at home, makes a man independent. That'll do, son; now get the duster."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

VACANT LOTS ARE UTILITY PROBLEM

Tremendous Investment Tied up in Mains And Lines in Vicinity of Unoccupied Territory

STATE UTILITIES BAD OFF

Cities Should Lessen The Number of Vacant Lots And Not Expand Into Virgin Territory

One of the chief problems of public utility companies, according to H. O. Garman, chief Engineer of the Indiana Public Service Commission, is the necessity for maintaining service facilities in thinly settled city communities. In a recent talk before the Indianapolis Rotary Club, Mr. Garman said:

"Probably more than 60 percent of the area of Indianapolis is vacant. This means that there are hundreds of vacant lots in this city with public utility service mains, lines and tracks in front of them but nobody living on these lots to use the public utility service. In the vernacular of the single taxer the 'ground hog' is holding these lots vacant, thus causing tremendous useless investment in public utility mains lines and tracks. For the rest of us to pay tax, interest and depreciation on, in the form of higher public utility rates. If we could reduce the number of vacant lots we could reduce the public utility investment in useless plant and thereby reduce their fixed charges and ultimately reduce the public utility rates proportionately."

"To get an additional idea of the magnitude of the problem of public utility regulation we may recall that the utilities in Indiana are worth about $750,000,000, with a total gross revenue annually of about $150,000,000. In Indianapolis alone we have substantially $61,000,000 of public utility property, earning a gross annual revenue of approximately $17,500,000. With the Indianapolis population at 314,200 it is easy to see that every man, woman and child pays annually an average of $55.70 each for public utility service."

"The Indianapolis Water Company has about 450 miles of mains and pumps 30,000,000 gallons daily. The Indianapolis Street Railway Company has about 165 miles of track."

"The public utility business is not a wreck, neither is it in as bad a condition as in many other states, but our utilities in general are in a bad way."

"Municipal ownership, which was thought by many to be a panacea for all the ills of private ownership, has proved in nearly every case to be a failure. The municipally owned utilities suffer because of politics, lack of continuity of management, and insufficient compensation to procure competent employees. A few municipally owned plants are successfully operating, but they are the exception and not the rule."

"Good public utility service is the life blood of a municipal community and every effort should be bent in the direction of obtaining the highest degree of co-operation between the public and the utility managements. I have worked with every public service commission in Indiana and have had the present Indiana commission recognized generally as one of the most progressive and constructive in the United States."

Is It Pseudo-Science?

Human intellect is so partial to a generalization that even men of science constantly are guilty of generalizing upon an insufficient basis of facts. A learned professor of the University of Cincinnati invites us to believe that the older the parents the better the chances of distinction for the children.

He draws his conclusion from what he says are the facts concerning cattle and horses. But only the other day we read a dissertation by another scientist warning against taking for criterion the history of the domestic animals, asserting that the human race, as far as heredity is concerned, is as much a wild species as lions, elephants, or wolves.

The Cincinnati savant also derives his induction from the facts concerning the parentage of illustrious men. Franklin, Lincoln, Newton, for instance, the sum of whose parents' ages at their birth was high. Yet it is a fact that the mother of Napoleon at the time of his birth was but eighteen and his father scarcely thirty. And the illustration can be repeated many times.

False Acute Indigestion.

What is commonly called acute indigestion is, according to Dr. Beverley Robinson of New York, primarily an over-strained, weakened heart, already diseased, or a cerebral hemorrhage. Such cases he treats with aromatic spirits of ammonia, having first placed a one-minim hypodermic tablet of strychnanthus under the tongue to dissolve.

STATE MINES FACE A CAR SHORTAGE

Say They Have Sufficient Working Force But Lack Shipping Facilities to Supply People

NO STORAGE IS AVAILABLE

Because of Car Shortage a Crisis May Result This Fall as Dealers Can't Get Much Ahead

A big Indiana coal company that provides many of the public utilities companies of the state with the fuel they need to provide gas, light and other necessary services, explains the coal "shortage", in a letter to several of these public utilities companies as follows.

The mines of the country have ample productive capacity and at the present time we have sufficient men to produce all the coal required to meet the needs of the country.

The only restricting factor in the production of coal is the deficiency in transportation. This analyzes itself into the switchmen's strike car shortage, inadequate terminal facilities, insufficient motive power and an unusual demand upon the resources of the railroads. Of all these points of difficulty, the car shortage is dominant; the other aggravate and multiply it and the total result is of paramount importance.

The effect at the present time is that the country is without any accumulated storage. The demand exceeds the production. Relief is not in sight. Should this situation extend to the fall months, with the accompanying increase of consumption, the result would surely approach a fuel famine, with all its direct and indirect effect.

The question of the country's coal supply is of equal interest to producer and consumer and the object of this statement is in no way intended to promote the selfish interest of any one interested party. It is presented upon the broad basis of the general welfare of all concerned.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fish of Indianapolis will spend the week-end here the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Frazee of North Harrison street.

CAN BRYAN BE ABLE TO REPEAT

Johnson, Judge of the Ohio Supreme Court, today told delegates to the Democratic national convention, placing Ohio's three-time Governor in nomination for President of the United States.

Naming Ohio as the pivotal state in the coming campaign, Judge Johnson—not a delegate himself, but presented to the convention by the Ohio delegation—said in no state would the issues of the campaign be felt more deeply than in Ohio home also of Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee.

Johnson outlined the record of Cox in Ohio, praised his war work and his civil administration in Ohio.

"If he was masterful and efficient in civil administration he was superb as the leader of the people in preparing for and prosecuting war," said Judge Johnson.

"Confident that close examination by a great, free and intelligent people will disclose that our governor is a splendid example of what America can do and that he meets the needs of the hour, the Democracy of Ohio, with entire unanimity, brings to the Democracy of the nation this great practical and successful leader and statesman."

"Ohio nominates for President of this country, James M. Cox."

Judge Johnson's speech follows:
"I speak for a mighty state. The election this year will fix the status of America for a generation. Not only will it decide whether we shall take our rightful place at the very head of the nations in a united effort for civilization, or shall lapse into sullen ostracism in the face of opportunities for service to humanity which no people ever had; but it will also decide whether the domestic progress and vast productive energies of this continent shall be turned back into reactionary channels after a period of splendid achievement in Democratic administration."

"Before November comes, the people of every state will be profoundly touched with the vast importance of this issue, but in no state more deeply than in Ohio."

"We, in Ohio, feel that we are a cosmopolitan people in a large and unusual sense. Gathered in its citizenship are train of blood from every race and every clime. We feel the heartbeats, the triumphs and the sufferings of all the world."

"In the early days the Cavaliers of the South, the Puritans of New England, the Holland Dutch of New York, the Pennsylvania Germans and the Maryland Irish all sent pioneers to Ohio. These, with the sturdy immigrants from the old country, met upon our soil, mingled their blood and began the construction of a great commonwealth. All stood equal, and under the inspiration of the Revolution and the pure and benign influences of nature they began in Ohio and extended throughout the Northwest an era of progress and prosperity not seen before among men."

"When this country was forced into the great world war our people, in common with their fellow countrymen in all of the states, were thrilled by the call of the great man who sits in the seat of Washington and Lincoln, and who with superb spirit and matchless phrase interpreted the highest aspirations and the invincible purpose of the free peoples of the earth. If envy, hatred and passion shall deprive him of his just recognition now, and deprive his country and humanity of the benefits of his vast service in their behalf succeeding generations will pay increasing devotion to his honor. The mighty appeal he made to the resistless forces of civilization will place him among the colossal figures in the history of mankind.

"As we enter the great contest now impending, our opponents fan every flame of discontent, in order to carry the election. Unmindful and regardless of the effect on the welfare of the Republic, and on the orderly processes of society, they arouse bitter prejudice and set in motion forces which it is easy to see may become absolutely uncontrollable. They do not hesitate to cast a cloud on the glory won for our country by the millions of our boys who grandly carried the flag to the battlefields of Europe and with unconquerable spirit placed it at the very front of the columns of civilization. All the world felt that democracy, freedom and friendship had a new meaning in the earth."

"The American people must now decide whether that proud position which our soldiers and our people won shall be abandoned or whether we shall show ourselves worthy of the inheritance we have enjoyed."

"With him as your candidate Ohio is Democratic and with Ohio Democratic, victory is yours."

"Every four years Americans drink anew at the fountains of freedom and enthusiasm. Is it hard to overstate the enormous educational value of a presidential election to our people. The youth of the land receives instruction that fixes its faith in the Republic upon sure foundations, and it receives widespread education on public questions. It is one of the finest things in our national life. To every lover of freedom it is inspiring."

"What a grand thing it is to witness the scenes of the national conventions of the two great parties of our country. In no other country, since men began to consult together, could such a thing be seen as we see every four years. But not in the exciting scenes of these conventions is the final choice to be made. In the quiet times between now and the election in the summer and autumn the records of the parties and the candidates will pass in review before the American people, in the homes, in the hamlets, in the great centres of commerce and industry, before the humblest and the highest; and when the golden glories of au-

turn have come, the mature judgment of the people will be expressed.

"They know enough to know that the road to the re-establishment of durable peace and progress is arduous. They know that the recuperative spirit that was placed by the Creator in every race in every time, will reassert itself and that in the new day that will come out of the suffering and lessons of the great struggle through which we have just passed, and the new social fabric that has been woven by an unseen, omnipotent power, America must take her proper place; that while maintaining untarnished and untouched the grand institutions of freedom prepared for us by the forefathers, these institutions must be used as the forefathers themselves declared, for the benefit of humanity."

"Confident that his close examination by a great free and intelligent people will disclose that our Governor is a splendid example of what America can do, and that he meets the needs of the hour, the Democracy of Ohio, with entire unanimity brings to the Democracy of the nation this great, practical and successful leader and statesman."

"Ohio nominates for President of this country James M. Cox."

Introducing the Bassarisk.

Ever meet a bassarisk?

No, not a bassarisk; that is something different. A bassarisk is a cat-mix. But the animal is better known as the "civet cat"—though why so called nobody knows, inasmuch as it is not a civet and not a cat.

It is a strange little creature, related to the raccoon, with a very long, bushy tail ringed in black and white. Sometimes it is called a "ring-tailed cat" and sometimes a "cat-squirrel!"—the latter designation bestowed on account of its squirrel-like habit of climbing trees and nesting in hollow branches.

Like a cat, it catches rats, mice and small birds. It is about 16 inches long, not counting the tail, which measures another 16 inches. In color it is brownish gray. It is a night prowler, like a cat, and often makes its home in outbuildings and deserted ranch houses.

The civet cat ranges from Mexico and Texas to California and as far north as southern Oregon. Occasionally it is kept in captivity as a pet.

ENTIRE FIELD IS CUT

Wheat cutting in this county is in full swing and many reports have come in where wheat has been cut. One of the first reports to come in where an entire field has been cut, comes from the Joe Cowing farm southwest of this city. The farm is occupied by Henry Halterman and from all reports is one of the best crops that has ever been cut on that farm and from all indications it will take an extra good yield to beat it.

Automobile Accident Fatalities

Seventeen deaths and scores of injured is the toll of two automobile accidents in Indiana Sunday. Both were caused when trains crashed into automobiles. Both could have been avoided had the drivers exercised due caution and care when they approached the crossing.

A cursory glance at most of the automobile accidents that occur on Sunday will show that negligence on part of the driver is responsible. A railroad crossing is a potent danger spot at all times, and challenges the driver to be careful.

Many drivers seemingly go on the theory that luck which has accompanied them in the past will be with them again when they dash madly over a railroad crossing. There is no such thing as luck when you try to dodge a locomotive.

Papers will be filled with automobile tragedies until their drivers become inoculated with the "safety first" principle. Laws regulations and appeals to the better sense of drivers, are futile when once they get the "speed" germ. The recital of frightful tragedies, such as brought grief to score of homes in Franklin and Huntington, make no impression upon them.

War on Perkins Street

The Democratic organ of this city in an editorial last night tells us that there is, or was a war on Perkins street, and at the same time tells us who the Democratic candidate for governor is, answering only in part an editorial that appeared the night before in the Daily Republican. Their editorial said, "Hardly one democrat in ten can tell you right off the reel who the Democratic candidate for governor of Indiana is," says the Daily Republican. It certainly is mean for them to slander McCullough that way. Wonder if they heard about the war over on Perkins street? Mr. McCullough was in it.

Perkins street residents no doubt would like to know who else had a hand in the war on their street besides the doctor but we must confess that we never heard of any fight.

The rest of the editorial that they took offense at was as follows—"let alone who is running for congress in the Sixth district on the Democratic ticket," and as they didn't tell us who, we presume that they are attempting to find out.

Authorities at Sing Sing say that shoes can be made there for $4.50 a pair which permits a reasonable profit. Which suggests that some of the alleged profitters might be sent there for a little schooling.

CANADA EXPECTS OLYMPIC HONORS

Canada Sport Experts Expect Great Things From Dominion's Water Polo Team

ELIMINATION TRIALS JUNE 26.

Finals in Track and Field Events Will be Held on Montreal Amateur Grounds July 17

Montreal, Que., July 1—Despite the terrible inroads upon the ranks of Canadian athletes during five years of war, the Dominion, in addition to winning the hockey championship at the Antwerp Olympic games, will make a strong bid in almost every other branch of sport, especially in the swimming and trap shooting events.

Canada sport experts expect great things from the Dominion's water polo team which undoubtedly will have in its membership such swimmers as Geo. Hodgson, Frank McGill, winners of middle distance swimming events at Stockholm; George Vernot the fastest short distance swimmer in Canada and John Kerry, who was second in the ten-mile swim at Riverton, N. J., last year. These four, in case they show up well in the Olympic trials, will also take part in the dashes and Hodgson has already come close to his former records while practicing here recently.

Elimination trials for western Canada's swimmers took place in Winnipeg on June 26 and the grand test will be at St. Helen's Island in the St. Lawrence river at Montreal, July 3. At these trials races will be held over the regulation Olympic distances and competition in pedestal, ten foot and high diving will be held.

Finals in track and field events will be held on the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association's grounds here on July 17. The men competing in this all-Canadian tryout will have made good showings at preliminary trials held in Winnipeg and Toronto.

McGill College of Montreal will probably have the best representation of any one institution or organization, a great many hurdlers, jumpers, shot-putters and javelin-throwers already working out in conjunction with the M. A. A. A. weekly try-outs.

Seventy men will endeavor to bring Olympic honors back to Canada and these are:

Eleven members of the hockey already winners and returning: Traps, 6; Boxers, 7; Wrestlers, 3; Oarsmen, 15; Swimmers, 6; and

Comedy at Mystic Friday

An effervescent comedy without the slap-stick effect, is what critics have called the new Universal comedy, "Everything But the Truth." This new five-act feature is from the story by Edgar Franklin. It is an admirable starring vehicle for Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran, which comes to the Mystic Theatre on Friday.

According to reports that have preceded the comedy here, "Everything But the Truth," is a photoplay replete with humorous situations that have been made the most of by the two Universal stars.

The story concerns two young couples, one of them engaged, and the other newly married. The bride and groom have a little suburban love nest next door to the bungalow the prospective Benedict has prepared for his future wife.

Their affairs seem hopelessly tangled when the unmarried man and his neighbor's wife are held prisoners all night in a deserted farm house by an escaped lunatic. The true sounds so improbable that they invent another. It is soon punctured and more falsehoods have to be told. There are many laughable incidents in the mix-up before everything is satisfactorily explained.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. Yet now, at an age over 60, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs." Mr. Brittain certified further:

INDIAN'S SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

"As a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in a travel, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asserted would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days.

Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called KOTALKO, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist.

That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

It has been proved in very many cases that hair roots did not die even when the hair fell out through dandruff, fever, alopecia areata or certain other hair or scalp disorders. Miss A. D. Otto reports: "About 8 years ago my hair began to fall out until my scalp in spots was almost entirely bald. I used everything that was recommended but was always disappointed until at last I came across KOTALKO. My bald spots are being covered now; the growth is already about three inches. G. W. Mitchell reports: 'I had spots, completely bald, over which hair is now growing since I used KOTALKO.' Mrs. Matilda Maxwell reports: 'The whole front of my head was as bald about 15 years. Since using KOTALKO, hair is growing all over the place that was bald.' Many more splendid, convincing reports from satisfied users.

RED STAR

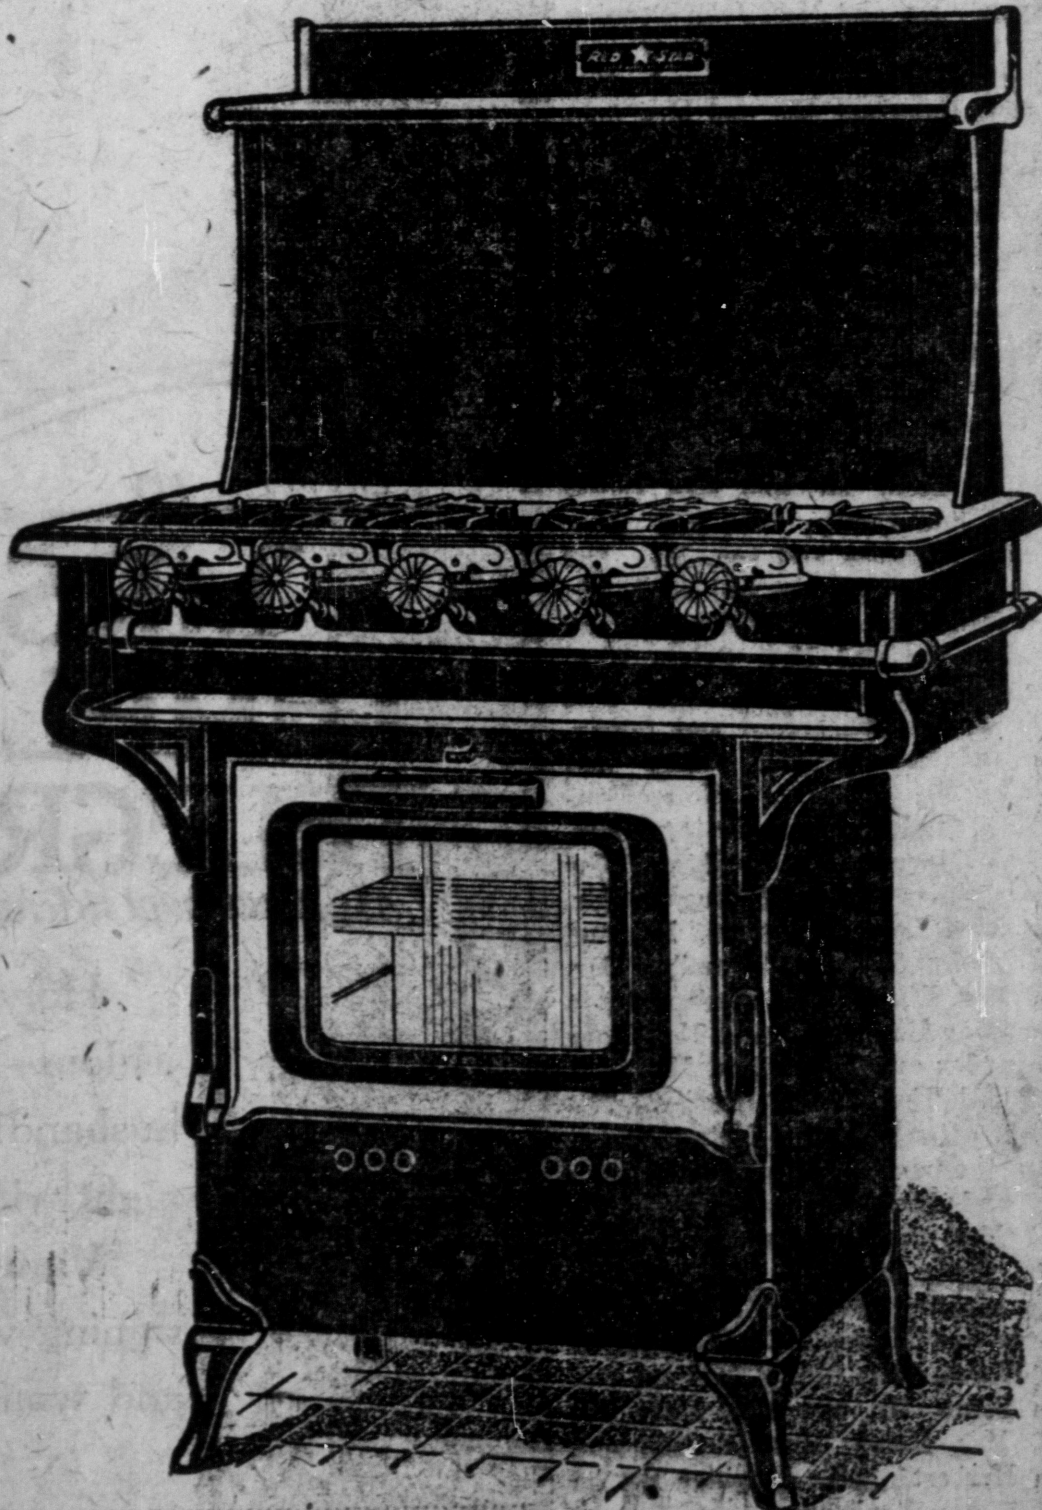

Detroit Vapor Oil Stove

The perfection of the "Red Star" made possible for the first time the use of kerosene or other cheap oils without the aid of wicks or substitutes for wicks. It made possible a complete vaporization of all the heat units of oil and increased heating efficiency over thirty per cent.

The "Red Star" is really a gas range. It produces its own gas from any grade of liquid fuel. It increases heating efficiency over thirty per cent.

Competent, official judges and countless housewives have proclaimed it to be the most efficient and economical oil stove ever offered to American women.

The Presbyterian church choir will not meet for rehearsals during the months of July and August.

The Lurline Council of the Poecanthas will meet tonight in their hall. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Sarah Guffin entertained with a dinner party today at noon at her home in North Morgan street the following guests: Mrs. Margaret Friend, Mrs. Rachel Jones of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Friend and son Joseph of Vincennes, Ind.

The Fairview Parent-Teacher's association met yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the school building for their meeting, and the program was in charge of Mrs. E. F. Powers. Mrs. Ruby Hackleman read a paper on "The Home, the Civil, Social and Moral Uplift." The discussion was lead by Mrs. Capper. The Misses Gladys and Helen Groves rendered a beautiful piano duet and Miss Marian Fry played a piano solo.

Mrs. A. L. Chew was hostess for the members of the Band of Workers of the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon at her home in West First street. Sixteen members were present for the last meeting of the year and the afternoon was enjoyed with a social informal party following the business session during which business of the year was closed. The assisting hostesses were Mrs. Sam Finney and Mrs. Maud Wolcott. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the social hour.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Noble Township Farmer's Association will meet at the New Salem High School auditorium Tuesday evening, July 6, at the same time the association meets. The program to be given will be as follows: Piano and violin selection, Charlotte and Marjorie Holman; business period; reading, Margaret Fisher; "Methods of Canning," Miss Miller; piano solo, Mary Lois Bever; "Preserving and Jelly Making," Mrs. Sefton; general discussion of the papers; piano solo, Dorothy Hogan. All women of Noble township and neighboring townships are cordially urged to attend this meeting.

The Rev. Mr. Crawley, of Metamora, pastor of both the Metamora and Big Flat Rock churches, was the victim of a surprise Sunday, which was planned and carried out by the Big Flat Rock church members with the aid of the pastor's wife Mrs. Crawley. The guests motored to Metamora Sunday morning and attended the morning services and from there motored to the home of their pastor. The bounteous pitch-in dinner was served on the beautiful lawn on a long table. Later in the afternoon refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Hungerford, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hungerford, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Tryon, Mr. and Mrs. John Benning, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Piper and daughter Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. William Billings and daughter Miss Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Birney Piper and daughter Pauline, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Hungerford and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hungerford, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Piper and son, Mrs. Sarah Piper, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Alter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Widener, Charles Land Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Thrall and family, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hillgoss and son, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wagoner and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Pharron Whiting and family, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hungerford and son Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Hungerford and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Hasty and family, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hungerford and family, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Morgan and daughter Miss Freda, Miss Helen Whiting, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Wagoner, Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hungerford and son Iden, Roy Banta Mr. and Mrs. Lora Alexander and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Thorpe and family. The people attending from Metamora besides the pastor and his family were Mr. and Mrs. Chris Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. James Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ammess, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Murray Mr. and Mrs. Grant Curry, the Misses Mildred and Wilna Pierce, Mrs. Edith Jackson and son Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Mart Kehel, Mrs. Kehel Mrs. Gleason and son Herbert and daughter Bertha and James Stephenson.

An invitational dance was given in the Modern Woodmen Hall in West Third street last evening by a group of young men from Fairview. The Fairview orchestra furnished the music and about twenty couples enjoyed the evening dancing.

Mrs. Clara Groves, daughter of Warren Eastridge of Indianapolis, and Earl Heath, son of Charles Heath, of Circleville, were quietly married last evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ridout in Circleville, by the Rev. L. E. Brown, pastor of the Main Street Christian church. Mr. and Mrs. Heath will reside in Circleville.

Mrs. John H. Frazee delightfully entertained the members of the Woman's Christian Missionary Society of the Main Street Christian church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her home in North Harrison street. The event was in the form of a reception for the national president, Mrs. Atwater, of St. Louis, who gave a very interesting talk on "Christian Stewardship," and for the state president Mrs. J. D. Case of this city. The society also welcomed the new president, Mrs. P. H. Chadwick and gave a farewell to the out-going president, Mrs. Joe Amos, who has efficiently served in the office of president during the past year.

A special musical program was given including a vocal solo by Mrs. Derby Green, a violin solo by Miss Janet Dean and a piano solo by Miss Brenda Kinsinger. Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Yocum of St. Louis, and a former pastor of the Christian church were guests at the meeting.

"Schopenhauer's Bible." The "Oupnekhat" is a Latin translation of the "Upanishads," made by Anquetil-Duperron, from a Persian version of the Sanscrit original, which was published at Strassburg, in two volumes quarto, 1801-1802, under the title "Oupnekhat, id est, Secretum Legendum." It consists of a group of treatises, expounding a general system of mystical pantheism, which arose as a development of the more theosophic element in the Vedas. It is believed that this influenced Schopenhauer not a little in his writings.

RUSHVILLE WILL BE QUIET ON MONDAY

No Celebration is Planned Here And a General Closing of Stores Will Take Place

PICNIC PARTIES TO PREVAIL

Practically all business in this city will be on a stand-still Monday, when all stores, banks, postoffice and business firms will close for the day to observe the Fourth of July. As the Fourth this year falls on Sunday, the business houses will honor the occasion on Monday July 5.

As Rushville has provided no special entertainment for that day, the city is expected to be very quiet, when the citizens flock to other cities where large entertainments have been planned.

The postoffice will be closed all day it being the only day of the year that it makes no city or rural deliveries during the day. Only special deliveries and perishable parcels will be delivered Monday, and the windows will remain closed.

All banks and practically all business houses will observe the Fourth of July Monday. Most of the dry good stores will close at least part of the day to give their employees a holiday. The usual picnic and automobile parties will be abundant. The Daily Republican will issue no paper on that day, it being one of the three holidays of the year this newspaper observes.

"Grand Old Party."

The term "Grand Old Man" was applied to Mr. Gladstone in 1832, and is accredited to John Bright, who used it in a speech that year in Northampton, England. In America the phrase was appropriated and changed by members of the Republican party, who affectionately called it the "Grand Old Party." This at once became a newspaper slogan and in the headlines was shortened to "G. O. P."

Sugar Cane.

The leaves of the sugar cane are long and narrow, and the stalks are hard and thick. It looks very much like growing corn, but grows somewhat taller—at times as high as 15 to 18 feet. After the cane ripens, it is cut and taken to a sugar mill.

Handicapped by Height.

As a rule very tall persons are said to be over-sensitive about their height to such a degree that it often proves a handicap in the way of their success in life. A notable instance of this character was the nine-foot giant of Russia, Machnow, who made a fine living by exhibiting himself, yet he was the most miserable person on account of his height.

HAVANA IS VERY PROSPEROUS CITY

Cuba Not Satisfied to Bask in Tropical Sunshine But is Working Hard Today

STILL CLINGS TO OLD WAYS

In Comparison With 20 Years Ago Cuba's Foreign Trade Has Increased About 700 Percent

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Havana, June 29.—Havana is happy and carefree these days. It ought to be. It never was so prosperous.

And while thousands upon thousands of dollars were left in Cuba by American and European tourists last winter—dollars freely spent by opulent business men and sportsmen—the island republic has not been satisfied to pocket that amount and bask in its tropical sunshine in idleness. It has been at work. It is working hard today.

Hardly does a visitor to beautiful Havana—so Spanish to the core in tradition and appearance—pass old Morro castle and enter the harbor before he gets the lasting impression that Cuba is prosperous—but busy. Tugs, launches, lighters and ferries are constantly scurrying across the water from pier to ship and ship to pier. Cranes are busy loading and unloading the big vessels crowded into the heretofore ample harbor.

Ashore it is the same. The city's real population of about 425,000 appears double that number as people rush through the narrow streets that form the old-town section. Neatly uniformed and polite traffic officers direct the steady stream of pedestrians and automobiles, and street cars up one street and down another in a fashion that puts New York and Chicago in the "piker" class. Shops, banks, restaurants, saloons are crowded.

There is the same rat-tat-tat-tat of the electric rivet drivers on steel skeletons that later will be modern business houses. Old churches, stores and residences—relics of an ancient Spanish period—are coming down. New and roomier structures are taking their places. But with all the commercial spell that has come over the "Pearl of the Antilles" it still clings stubbornly to its picturesque settings, appearance, customs and manner of life.

It would take a dozen generations of "civilization americana" to change Cuba. They will trade with us, invite us to drink their "salvsa" and "bochadi" with them and will sit with us around their roulette wheels. But they insist on remaining Cuban—with all the trimmings of Latin culture and habits.

Today more than three-quarters of Cuba's foreign commerce is with the United States. In 1918 Cuba's total foreign trade was $682,408,000. Of this amount $499,403,000 was with the United States. The balance of trade is in favor of Cuba in its dealings with the world. The island's total imports in the same year amounted to $304,624,000 while its exports totaled $379,784,000.

In comparison with 20 years ago, Cuba's foreign trade has increased about 700 per cent while in the last ten years it has tripled in value. In 1900 the total of imports and exports was $116,910,000. In 1910 it was $217,485,000.

Defendants Indicted in Connection With Operation of a Narcotic Conspiracy at Terre Haute

RING LEADER IS CAUGHT

Indianapolis, Ind. July 1.—Pleas of not guilty were entered in the federal court yesterday by all defendants indicted in connection with the operation of a narcotic conspiracy at Terre Haute.

Frank "Buster" Clark was considered as the ring leader of the conspiracy. He formerly was a tenderloin saloon keeper in the Red light district of Terre Haute.

Lottie Clark was his confederate. Both of these along with a coterie of followers were indicted on charges of violating the anti-narcotic law. The specific charge was trafficking in narcotics and other drugs.

TELEPHONE GIRL RETIRES AT 80

Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews Has Been on The Telephone Exchange in Hull, England For 21 Years

HAS HAD COMPLETE CHARGE

Resigned Her Position Because They Were Going to Reduce Her Wages—To Get Pension

By NINA BANORCRAFT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Hull, England, (By Mail).—England's oldest telephone "girl" has just put aside her receiver and abandoned her switchboard, at the age of 80.

For twenty-one years Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews has been on the exchange and during that time she has contemplated much on the wisdom of "old man Andrews." According to the tale she told, it happened this wise:

"Twenty-one years ago the National Telephone Company came to our cottage and asked by late husband if we would have the exchange here. At first he refused, but at last he consented and signed the agreement.

"But he would never attend to the switchboard and he wouldn't even learn how to work the plugs because he said if he did he would always have to do it."

Here the old lady smiled reminiscently as she recalled the smartness of her spouse in taking the appointment and leaving her, to do all the work. However, she had no grumble on that score.

"At first there were only six subscribers," she explained. "But later the thing grew until now we have 100 subscribers. For about ten years I had to do all the calls, night and day. It was very bad when the military were here and worst of all on Zeppelin alarm nights. There was no bed for me then. One week there were alarms every night and I had to remain at the switchboard, only going to bed at 5 in the morning."

Then she explained what even-

Meredith And Smith, Two Of The Democratic Timber

N. Y. EXECUTIVE EXPERT IN STATE GOVERNMENT

1873—Born in New York City.
1894—In trucking business.
1895—Clerk, Commissioner of Jurors.
1903—Elected to State Assembly.
1913—Made Speaker of the Assembly.
1915—Sheriff of New York County.
1917—President Board of Aldermen, Greater New York.
1918—Elected Governor of New York.

Those who have met Alfred E. Smith, Governor of New York, say he never forgets a name or face. This fact, they assert, accounts as much as any other factor for the has throughout the state and the country.

Smith's wide acquaintance with the people of affairs was gained during his ten years' membership in the New York assembly. It was in 1915 that Eltha Root chairman of the constitution convention, said Smith was the best informed man in state government he had ever seen.

Smith's election as a New York City Democrat to the governorship was a monster expression of New York's belief that the youthful assemblyman—a leader at Albany for ten years—would be able to reconstruct the state's government and handle after-war problems. He was given the largest plurality ever accorded a New York Governor, and was the first Democrat from New York City to be elected Governor in more than fifty years.

"Al" Smith was born in New York City in 1873. He attended parochial and public schools of the city, and on finishing his education he entered the trucking business, in which his father was engaged. In 1895 he was appointed a clerk in the office of the Commissioner of Jurors holding this position until he was elected to the state assembly in 1903.

Smith was re-elected annually to the assembly, and gradually rose to prominence in the state's lawmaking body. In 1911 Smith was Democratic leader in the assembly holding the chairmanship of the Ways and Means committee. The following year he was floor leader, and in 1913 was the unanimous choice of the Democrats for speaker of the House.

He was a member of the State constitutional convention, and was the acknowledged fountain of information and advice on questions of state government and functions. In 1915 Smith was elected sheriff of New York county (Manhattan). His plurality was 46,202 which was 20,000 votes ahead of the ticket.

In 1917 he was elected president of the board of aldermen of the Greater city. The next fall he was nominated and elected Governor by a majority of 15,000 votes over Charles S. Whitman, incumbent. The total vote cast for Smith was 1,009,536.

One of the first acts of the Governor was to appoint a reconstruction commission composed of industrial and financial leaders from every section of the state, to deal with post-war problems. And, although facing a hostile legislature, a large part of his program for reorganization and consolidation of state offices was passed.

Governor Smith is married and has five children.

CABINET MAN IS IOWA EDITOR-FARMER

1876—Born at Avoca, Iowa.
1895—Moved to Des Moines, entered Highland Park college.
1897—Purchased the Farmers' Tribune.
1902—Changed name of Farmers' Tribune to Successful Farming.
1914—Candidate for United States Senate, defeated.
1916—Candidate for Governor of Iowa, defeated.
1917—Appointed director of Federal Reserve Bank.
1917-18—Director National Chamber of Commerce.
1918—Member United States labor commission to Great Britain.
1919—Elected president Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.
1920—Appointed Secretary of Agriculture by President Wilson.

Success has crowned every business enterprise E. T. Meredith, Secretary of Agriculture, ever embarked upon. At the age of ten, Meredith was practically a penniless child on an Iowa farm. Today, he is publisher of one of the largest farm journals in the United States, Successful Farming and is reputed to be a millionaire.

Meredith recently gave out his "rule for success". It was "integrity industry and imagination". "Imagination spells the difference between little success and big success," he added.

Meredith's rise to wealth and standing reads as fiction. He was born on a farm near Avoca, Ia., Dec. 23, 1876. He attended a "little red school house" and later went to high school at Avoca.

Early in life Meredith was given an opportunity to develop his money-making qualities. At thirteen his father gave him a runt pig and told him he might raise it and sell it. Meredith watched over that pig as a nurse does a child, his father said and when the pig was ready for the market the runt had grown to be one of the largest in the neighborhood. The sale of the pig gave Meredith his first dollars.

Meredith worked on his father's farm until 19, then desiring an education he came to Des Moines and entered Highland Park college. He paid for his college expenses by doing odd jobs, working as a waiter in a lunchroom and tending furnaces in the winter.

After graduation, Meredith, then 21, accepted a position paying $8 a week on his grandfather's paper the Farmers' Tribune. The Tribune was a political organ supporting the Greenback party and its sympathizers could almost be counted on one's fingers. After struggling along for four or five years, Meredith's grandfather sold the paper to Meredith and a printed employed on the paper.

Meredith pursued the political policies of the Tribune for several years, and then, after becoming sole owner, revolutionized the Tribune. He first changed the name of the paper from the Tribune to Successful Farming. Then he dropped politics. Today the circulation of Successful Farming is said to be 800,000.

Meredith, through his paper, led the "back to the farm" movement. He was also one of the originators of the boy's calf and pig clubs.

Meredith also publishes several children's magazines.

But while Meredith has been extremely successful in the business world, he has not been so fortunate in politics. In 1914 he was a candidate for United States senator and was defeated by a large majority. In 1916 he was nominated at the Democratic candidate for governor of Iowa. He ran on a "good roads" platform but was overwhelmingly defeated.

Meredith's hobbies are work and the agriculture department. He has an engaging personality and is an appealing orator.

Olympic Games.

The origin of the Olympic games is lost in antiquity. The official list of victors begins with Coroebus, who won the foot race in 776 B. C. They were celebrated every four years and were at their height in the fifth and fourth centuries B. C. The games continued until 394 A. D., when they were suppressed by Emperor Theodosius. The modern series of Olympic games began in Athens in 1896.

A Laundry Service Within Every Woman's Means

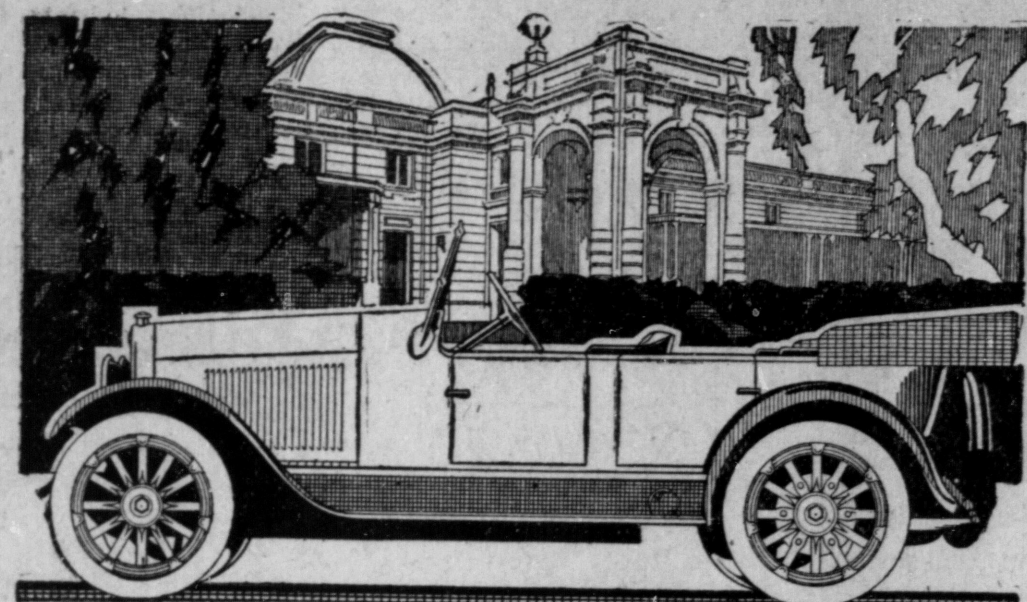

It is here for you in this Family Service we offer.
What is most disagreeable on washday? Isn't it the mussiness of wash water; the steam of boilers and tubs, the lifting and hauling?
And it's of that we relieve you—at a cost truly moderate.
We take your family bundle, wash it sweetly clean in soothingly soft waters and billowy, glistening suds; and rinse it many times in more water sparklingly pure.
Next we daintily iron the flat pieces; the things like bath towels we dry softly and fluffily—they need no ironing; the other pieces that require it we starch and make ready for you to iron in your home.
In a word, we do all the toilsome, mussy work of washday, and leave for you only the milder, pleasanter task of ironing the lighter pieces.
It's truly economical service within the means of every woman—we're sure you'll like it immensely.
Telephone, we'll welcome an opportunity to tell you more about it.

ONLY FEW INDOOR SWIMMING POOLS

Swimming One Branch of Athletics
State Has Been Slow in Developing Champions
SCHOOLS ARE FORMING TEAMS
With Amateur Athletic Union Organized Followers of The Sports Are Showing They Are Awake.

By HEZE CLARK
Indianapolis, Ind., July 1—Swimming is one branch of athletic sports in which the state of Indiana has been slow in developing champions.
This is no doubt due to the fact that there were few indoor swimming pools in the state until recent years.
With the organizing of the Amateur Athletic Union with headquarters in Indianapolis and the holding of several national championships here last month the followers of the aquatic sport are showing they are awake.
It must be admitted that in the northern Indiana lake region where summer camps and cottages are the mecca of high school and college athletes, swimming has become a fine art. This is true along the Ohio river and the Wabash and there is hardly a city but what boasts a champion swimmer.
However a real champion is a man that can enter some of the national swimming events and compete with the wonderful swimmers as have been developed in Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and San Francisco. This class of champion swimmers is still lacking in the Hoosier State with a few exceptions. For example Thelma Darby, holder of one world record for women swimmers is a girl from Indiana.
To develop speedy "water dogs" it is necessary to put the athletes through a long course of training. The crawl stroke must be brought to a state of perfection while the physical condition of the athlete must be perfect. This can not be done merely in the summer months when out door swimming is in vogue but

HOW THE CHALMERS HOT SPOT AND RAM'S HORN HAVE INFLUENCED A NATION

SO definite has been the public's acceptance of Hot Spot and Ram's horn and so highly efficient has the Chalmers become as a result of their use that these two devices now influence a nation.
1—They have made buyers of cars insist on an engine that would get out the power that nature stored away in gasoline.
2—They have caused a decided demand for less vibration in a car with the attendant results of longer life and more comfort.
3—They have caused an insistence for the elimination of frequent spark plug fouling, burned bearings, scored cylinders—eliminations which lower the cost of maintenance.
4—They have caused an emphatic demand for cool running on a hot day and quick starting on a cold day.
In other words, the acceptance by the public of Hot Spot and Ram's horn have recast standards of judging motor cars and this influence now is felt wherever cars are built.
For Hot Spot and Ram's horn accomplish much by transforming raw, heavy fuel into fine, smooth power and providing new virtues that buyers now seek in a motor car.
Hence the growth in public belief that Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

the swimmer must have an indoor tank in which to train during the winter.

Purdue, DePauw, Franklin, Indiana University and other schools are developing swimming teams. The schools as a whole in Indiana are still backward in this important branch of athletics but as more of them get new gymnasiums, with swimming tanks the aquatic sport develops.

The Y. M. C. A. in various Indiana cities has taken a lead in developing swimming champions. The "Y" athletic directors deserve much credit for teaching many young men to swim and many would of course never be champions for they lack the natural ability to swim fast.

There is one man today who is doing more than any other to place Indiana in the front rank with a champion swimming team. That man is Paul R. Jordan. Twenty years ago he was a member of the Indiana University track team in those days.

In late years Jordan is a successful Indianapolis business man but takes time from his business and coaches swimmers at the Indianapolis Y. M. C. A. He has developed some wonderful young "water dogs" and their perfect style is due to the careful training of Jordan.

While it is difficult to finance a big swimming meet it would be a big boost to Indiana athletics if a state championship swimming meet could be held out of doors at the close of the present summer when the athletes are in good condition after trips to camp on lakes and rivers.

TELEPHONE GIRL RETIRE AT 80

tually made her kick over the traces.
"It has never been a very good paying job," she said. "Before I received the war bonus I was only getting 12s 10d a week (about $2.50) and out of that I had to find coals and oil for a paraffin lamp, as well as clean away the dirt made by people who came to the call office."

Then closing the door so that the new young operator in the parlor switchroom should not hear, she continued:
"I don't know what the authorities are going to do. I have sent my notice in and they can do what they like. They wrote me a letter saying they were going to reduce my money to 10s a week (about $2).

That maddened me and I sent in my notice."
Then the old lady leaned forward and confided:
"I should have kept it on if it had not been for my eyes. If my sight were as good as my hearing it would have been all right, but things are growing dimmer and I feel I'd like a rest."
Meanwhile, the exchange remains at the cottage, and the Corporation are weaving plans whereby Mrs. Andrews shall receive a goodly pension without any hurt to her pride.

RURAL CARRIERS MEET HERE SUNDAY

Sixth District Rural Route Carriers
Will Hold Annual Meeting in Court House Here

IS AN IMPORTANT AFFAIR

Hundreds Will be Here and Important
Business Matters Will Come
Before Their Meeting

An all day meeting of the Rural Mail Carriers of the Sixth Congressional District will be held in this city on Sunday July 4, beginning at 10:00 o'clock, the meeting to be held in the Court House.

Among the most important subjects to be brought up at this meeting will be an effort to bring about the repeal of the 50 mile motor route law and the withdrawal of the present 50 mile routes, and the enactment of a law preventing any route being more than 30 miles in length, with increased salaries for standard routes of 24 miles, and the same rate of pay over that as paid for the first 24 miles.

Another subject of importance which will be discussed is the insurance feature whereby $300 will be paid to a carrier's family upon his death.

Mr. J. Cletus Stambaugh, a rural carrier of York, Pa., who has appeared before the Senate Post Office Committee and the Joint Commission on Postal Salaries will make the principal address. Mr. Stambaugh is also editor of the Rural Delivery Record, the only paper in the country owned and published by rural carriers. He is also a close friend of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General
Blakeslee and can give the carriers some first hand information.

Every carrier in the sixth district should postpone any engagement he may have made for that day and attend this meeting, for it is through their organized efforts alone are rural carriers ever going to obtain sufficient salary to support himself and family as he should.

The meeting was called on Sunday
as this is the only day the carriers could meet in conference, for they are busily engaged in the activities of their office during the other days of the week.

The officers of the organization are: F. D. Spann, president of Wirt Ind., W. A. Lovelace vice-president, of Sullivan, Ind., and Walter Eggers,
secretary treasurer, of Roschdale Ind., and all are expected to attend this conference. Members of the executive committee including C. G.
Harris, of Indianapolis, G. H. Mc-
Ghie, of Talbot Ind., and W. H.
Moulton, of Parker, Ind., have sent word that they expect to attend if nothing prevents.

From all indications this meeting promises to be a very successful event and all rural carriers of this county are urged to be present to aid in carrying out the program and to prove that Rushville can be a very gracious host.

INTEREST GROWS NIGHTLY

Evangelist Carter Preached Force-
Sermon Last Night

The revival meetings being conducted in the Coliseum in the City Park, continue to grow in interest each evening. Evangelist Carter preached a very uplifting sermon last night on "Crucifying Our Savour". In part he said: "The Jews were not the only ones guilty of such a shameful crime but men and women of today are crucifying Him everytime they refuse to let Him have His way in their heart and life". The Holy Spirit was present in manifested power over the enemy last evening and a large crowd was present to hear the evangelist.

Meetings will still continue throughout the week and the public is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

F. Walton Scott and John M.
Scott, Jr. of Indianapolis are spending the week with their grandmother Mrs. Mary Walton of East Sixth street.

TWO MACHINES COLLIDE

Machines of Mrs. Paul Morris and
Ed Caldwell Run Together

Two machines collided this morning in front of the traction station but no serious damage was done,
one machine was driven by Mrs.
Paul Morris, and in turning the corner at Third and Morgan ran to the wrong side of the street it is said, and in attempting to get to the right side collided with a machine driven by Edward Caldwell, who thought that the other machine was intending to stop at the Traction Station.
He did not make any attempt to cross to the other side of the street but instead the Morris machine ran directly in front of the Caldwell machine causing the collision. The only damage done was a broken wind shield and a twisted front axle on the Morris machine while the other machine escaped with only a broken bumper. The occupants of both machines were unhurt.

BLISS AND COWING WILL QUIT BUSINESS

Well Known Clothing and Shoe Firm
Announces Today That They Will go Out of Existence

SAME LOCATION FOR 38 YEARS

Bliss and Cowing, for 21 years an established clothing and shoe firm of this city, announced this morning that they were going out of business, and would offer their entire stock of over $75,000 worth of merchandise at a sale beginning next Thursday.

The clothing and shoe firm has been located in the same location, in the L. O. O. F. building, corner of Main and Second streets for 38 years, during which time Will Bliss has been in business. The first firm was known as Bliss and Wilson, then Bliss Brothers, later Mr. Bliss had the business by himself, and during the last 21 years it has been Bliss and Cowing. Joseph Cowing has been in the business in Rushville for 31 years, having formerly been a clerk in the other Bliss stores.

The retiring owners are undecided as to their future but it is said that Mr. Bliss will probably consider the establishment of a specialty store in a larger city and Mr. Cowing will probably retire and devote his attentions to his farm and other interests.

The stock of merchandise is considered the largest of its kind in this section of the state, and 15,000 sale bills are being printed at the Republican office, which will be distributed over eastern Indiana.

BICYCLE IS RECOVERED

Sam Finney Gets Back Wheel That
Police Gave Away

Sam Finney, proprietor of a local bicycle shop missed a bicycle yesterday, and learned that Clarence Driver, better known as "Doug" Driver was seen riding on the wheel, and when found refused to give it to Mr. Finney stating that Policeman Pea had given it to him. Finney took the matter up with Mayor Irvin, and the wheel was returned within two hours.

The boy told Finney that the policeman gave him the wheel for turning off the pedestal lights down town, early every morning, which is the duty of the policeman. Chief Wilfong and Policeman Pea called on Mr. Finney last night with the boy, and he still maintained that the wheel was given him for doing the policeman a favor, and refused to tell him that it was given him by another boy, which he asserted the officers wanted him to tell.

DRY FOR A YEAR

Today was the first anniversary of the day the Dry United States saloons having gone out of business in this country
one year ago today, July 1, 1919.

FLATROCK RIVER IS REPLENISHED

Ten Thousand Baby Fish of Many Kinds Are Deposited Today in Vicinity of Rushville

ONLY A FEW BELOW TOWN

Man in Charge Says That Shelby County Is to be Cut Out Because of Fish Law Violations

Flatrock river, above and below Rushville was supplied today with several thousand fish, and an officer from the state conservation department was here and distributed the fish in different places around Rushville, so that the sport of fishing will not become extinct in the future months.

The Rushville Fish and Game Protective association, which was formed here this spring among local sportsmen, was largely responsible for the replenishing of Flatrock, as they made application a few weeks ago for five thousand fish, but today at least 10,000 fish of different kind arrived for the streams.

The fish were shipped here in large cans, resembling milk cans, and in one can alone there was 2,000 small sun fish, and besides the sun fish, there were several thousand bass of different species and several thousand small cat fish.

Several of the cans were taken on a truck to the Green and Green farm where a large quantity was deposited in the river above the dam, and other cans were emptied as far south as the Pennsylvania bridge.

Only a few cans were emptied south of the Main street bridge, and the man in charge of the work stated that the state was attempting to bar good fishing from the streams that ran through Shelby county, and at the same time wished to warn local fishermen to obey the game and fish laws, so that Rush county would be given a supply when the fish had been properly angled and the supply was getting low.

In speaking of his motive for not placing more fish in the streams below the city, he said:

"The state conservation commission has cut Shelby county off its list and hereafter no fish will be assigned to that county for re-stocking its streams. The reason for this drastic judgment is the fact that the Shelby county courts refuse to punish the violators of the fish law, the offenders taken red-handed in the act of looting the streams illegally being turned loose to continue their nefarious work."

"Since Shelby county refuses to play the game, it is proposed that she play it in streams made barren by the lawlessness of her own citizens. No doubt a few years' experience with this sort of "sport" will bring the people of that community to its senses and cause them to realize that outlawry is not a paying proposition."

"In the meantime other counties in the state which are prone to follow Shelby county's example would do well to take heed of Shelby county's embarrassment. The state of Indiana does not propose to stock lakes and streams for the benefit of wasteful poachers and pot hunters.
If the people will not protect their own interests, the state will discontinue it service."

John Rich, 80 Years Old,
Doesn't Intend to Retire

John Rich of Falmouth is not a retired farmer in any sense of the word, and he doesn't intend to become one either. When a man gets to be in the sixties and has a large farm with a good income, the custom nowadays is to move into town and retire. Mr. Rich however was 80 years old May 19 and today he was out plowing in his large potato patch and broke his horse to the single line and spent the day in the patch, which is nothing out of the ordinary for him.

WARNS AGAINST TWO INSPECTOR IMPOSTERS

Property Owners Are Fleeced When
Two Men Claim to be Health
Inspectors For The City

ACCEPT MONEY; DON'T WORK

Two imposters have worked a smooth game on two or three Rushville property owners in the last day or so, according to Frank Havens, city health inspector. Mr. Havens says that complaints have reached him that two men, whose names are known by him, are representing themselves to be health inspectors, and are making property owners clean out unsanitary vaults, pretending to do the work themselves, and receiving eight dollars for the work.

Mr. Havens was called yesterday, and investigated a complaint made by Miss Alice Norris of North Harrison street, who owns rental property in another section of the city.
She told about the two men coming and securing eight dollars from her,
but the vaults were never cleaned, nor were they ever condemned by the city health inspector.

Property owners who are approached by these men should notify the police, as only Mr. Havens has authority to condemn unsanitary conditions. The two men will be asked to return the money, or else arrests will be made, because they impersonated an officer and fraudulently accepted money.

CITY IS FREE FROM DISEASES

Monthly Summary For June Dis-closes That Rushville is a Healthful Place

NO FIRE LOSS EITHER

"June Brides" Fell Short, More
Than Deaths and Police Court
Was Busy

The month of June passed by quietly in Rushville, more so in fact than any month recently has done, as the different summaries of the city's business show that there were no contagious diseases in the city during the month, and there was also no loss from fire.

The health office reports for the city show a clean record for June, which speaks very encouraging for the city. During the month previous, there were eleven cases of contagious diseases.

The fire department during June responded to only two alarms, and in either case there was no fire loss.
Two runs for one month is also a record for minimum runs, as compared with nine for January, the highest for the year so far.

June brides fell down on the job
this year, even if it happens to be
"leap year", as county clerk Loren Martin issued only ten marriage licenses during the "month of brides." November seem to be the month of marriages here, as last November the record was broken with 37 licenses, or more than one a day.

Births ran ahead of the reaper
during June, as the statistics obtained for the month reveals that there was only four deaths in the city, and nine birth.

Seven men were in police court during the month of June, which happens to break all records so far this year. During January and February the docket was blank with the exception of violators who appeared on account of not having displayed tail lights, but during the last two months, no one was fined by the mayor.

Of the seven persons arrested during June before the mayor, six of them were fined, and one was imprisoned and the seventh was in the circuit court on a charge of being found guilty.

PROHIBITION PLANK IS STILL UNCERTAIN AT THE CONVENTION

WILL ADD 2 NEW TRAINS

C. I. & W. Will Put on Through
Trains July Eleventh

Word from B. A. Worthington, president of the C. I. & W. railroad, stated today that two additional passengers would be added to the present schedule on Sunday July 11, with two through Pullman trains between Cincinnati and Chicago. The train from Chicago will arrive here at about 4:50 in the morning, and the train for Chicago will stop here shortly after midnight, carrying sleepers, so that Rushville people may occupy them here, and reach Chicago early in the morning to spend the day, and can leave there at eleven o'clock on the same night, if they wish. L. C. Snodgrass, local agent has not received the definite schedule, but has been informed that a change will take place on that day.

CAN BRYAN BE ABLE TO REPEAT?

This Question Overshadows Even
"Who Will be the Nominee"
Among The Delegates

RECALLS 24 YEARS AGO

When Similar Circumstance Existed
And He Swayed The Party—
Cox's Name is Presented

San Francisco, July 1—Can Bryan repeat?

To many delegates in the national convention this question today overshadowed even: "Who will be the nominee?"

"Twenty-four years ago in a very similar circumstance, Bryan then
"the boy orator of the Platte," by his eloquence so swayed the delegates to the national convention in the old coliseum at Chicago as to prevent the party going on record in favor of the gold standard.

Of course, there is no thought today of Bryan in the roll of nominee, but the party is just as divided on the wet and dry issue in this convention as it was on the gold standard in 1896.

There is no question but that Bryan is in even more earnest in his insistence upon putting a dry plank in the platform of 1920 than he was in his fight against the gold standard.

He is expected to fight on "the floor against the making the league of nations the paramount issue as directed by President Wilson" but his main effort is to be concentrated on the liquor question.

The administration forces to achieve the complete victory they had looked for in the resolution committee which did not break up until 3:30 a. m., were compelled by a vote of 32 to 18 to accept an addition to President Wilson's suggested plank, whereby no opposition to reservations that would make the league covenant clearer and more specific.

At the hour of adjournment the committee was still unable to agree upon the Irish and honor planks.

The convention floor fight over the liquor question probably will occur on the first anniversary of prohibition in the United States. One year ago today July 1, 1919, the war time prohibition went into effect.

McAdoo's candidacy appeared to have looked somewhat beyond control of self constituted managers who have been jockeying to keep his full strength on the first ballot.
Cox people continued to express confidence that McAdoo would not win sufficient support to make a dash.

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Calif., July 1.— Chairman Robinson called the democratic national convention in session today at 11:26 a. m.

The plan was to proceed with nominating speeches which were interrupted by a recess taken last night.

Robinson had great difficulty in getting order. Delegates were gossiping about the aisles. When quiet was obtained Bishop Nichols, Episcopal minister of San Francisco, asked Divine blessing on the meeting.

San Francisco, July 1.—The democratic platform as drafted by the subcommittee of nine and sub committee to the full committee declares for ratification of the peace treaty as a requisite to preserve the honor and integrity of the nation; suggests that the Irish question can be brought legitimately before the league of nations for settlement and is silent on the subject of prohibition.

Following is the result of leading proposals submitted to the full committee on resolutions by the sub committee.

They must be approved by the full committee before they can be put into the democratic platform for submission to the convention:

committee to write a plank if they deemed it necessary on the subject.

WILL FILE EXCEPTION TO LAND VALUATION

Jackson Township is Not Satisfied
to Pay $5,000 For Three Acres of Ground

IS FIVE TIMES TOO HIGH

Alva Newhouse, school trustee of Jackson township by his attorneys will file exceptions Saturday to the $5,000 land appraisement value that was placed on three acres of ground which the court condemned for school grounds, and upon which a new consolidated township school building is to be erected.

The Jackson township trustees filed a complaint in circuit court recently asking that the land known as the Winkerson land, be condemned for school purposes, and the court acted upon it favorably, and appointed Frank Sample, O. M.
Siler and Jesse Letture to act as appraisers and assess the land, which they recently placed at $5, 000.

Young and Young, attorneys for the plaintiff, stated this morning that the appraisement was too high for only three acres of land which would make it cost $1,666 an acre.
They stated that $300 would be a fair estimate of the land value an acre. It is understood that a small shed is on the land but is of little value.

The attorneys stated that an exception would be filed Saturday when court will be in session for the last time this term of court.

Study of Solution.
A sum of money has been raised by the olive growers and the canning industry for an intensive study of botulism in California. According to the study, the investigation will be conducted in the laboratories of the Stanford University Medical School and the George William Hooper Foundation for Medical Research of the University of California, and the co-operation of the United States health service and the California state board of health. The investigation will include a careful study of the distribution of the bacteria botulism in nature, of the ways in which food materials were become infected, and of the steps necessary to destroy the organism when it has infected raw food materials. A staff of specially trained workers has been organized and it is expected that the work will require at least two years.

Impressing the Office Boy.
"The secret of success, son," said the boss to the new boy, "is always, complete concentration of time to business."

"Yes, sir."

"In our establishment, we never look at the clock—never look at the clock."

"I won't sir."

VACANT LOTS ARE UTILITY PROBLEM

Tremendous Investment Tied up in Mains and Lines in Vicinity of 'Unoccupied Territory'

STATE UTILITIES BAD OFF

Cities Should Lessen The Number of Vacant Lots and Not Expand Into Virgin Territory

One of the chief problems of public utilities companies, according to H. O. Gagnier, chief Engineer of the Indiana Public Service Commission, is the necessity for maintaining service facilities in thinly settled city communities. In a recent talk before the Indianapolis Rotary Club, Mr. Gagnier said:

"Probably more than 60 percent of the area of Indianapolis is vacant. This means that there are hundreds of vacant lots in this city with public utility service mains, lines and tracks in front of them but nobody living on these lots to use the public utility service. In the vicinities of the single traser the 'ground hog' is holding these lots vacant, thus causing tremendous useless investment in public utility mains lines and tracks for the rest of us to pay tax, interest and depreciation on, in the form of higher public utility rates. If we could reduce the number of vacant lots, we could reduce the public utility investment in useless plant and thereby reduce their fixed charges and ultimately reduce the public utility rates proportionately.

"To get an additional idea of the magnitude of the problem of public utility regulation we may recall that the utilities in Indiana are worth about $750,000,000, with a total gross revenue annually of about $150,000,000. In Indianapolis alone we have substantially $61,000,000 of public utility property, earning a gross annual revenue of approximately $17,500,000. With the Indianapolis population at 314,200 it is easy to see that every man, woman and child pays annually an average of $55.70 each for public utility service.

"The Indianapolis Water Company has about 450 miles of mains and pumps 30,000,000 gallons daily. The Indianapolis Street Railway Company has about 165 miles of track.

"The public utility business is not a wreck, neither is it in as bad a condition as in many other states, but our utilities in general are in a bad way.

"Municipal ownership, which was thought by many to be a panacea for all the ills of private ownership, has proved in nearly every case to be a failure. The municipally owned utilities suffer because of politics, lack of continuity of management, and insufficient compensation to procure competent employees. A few municipally owned plants are successfully operating, but they are the exception and not the rule.

"Good public utility service is the life blood of a municipal community and every effort should be bent in the direction of obtaining the highest degree of co-operation between the public and the utility managements. I have worked with every public service commission Indiana has had, but the present Indiana commission is recognized generally as one of the most progressive and constructive in the United States."

Is It Pseudo-Science?
Human intellect is so partial to a generalization that even men of science constantly are guilty of generalizing upon an insufficient basis of facts. A learned professor of the University of Cincinnati invites us to believe that the older the parents the better the chances of distinction for the children.

He draws his conclusion from what he says are the facts concerning cattle and horses. But, only the other day we read a dissertation by another scientist warning against taking for criterion the history of the domestic animals, asserting that the human race, as far as heredity is concerned, is as much a wild species as lions, elephants or wolves.

The Cincinnati savant also derives his induction from the facts concerning the parentage of illustrious men, Franklin, Lincoln, Newton, for instance, the sum of whose parents' ages at their birth was high. Yet it is a fact that the mother of Napoleon at the time of his birth was but eighteen and his father scarcely thirty. And the illustration can be repeated many times.

STATE MINES FACE A CAR SHORTAGE

Say They Have Sufficient Working Force But Lack Shipping Facilities to Supply People

NO STORAGE IS AVAILABLE

Because of Car Shortage a Crisis May Result This Fall as Dealers Can't Get Much Ahead

A big Indiana coal company that provides many of the public utilities companies of the state with the fuel they need to provide gas light and other necessary services, explains the coal "shortage", in a letter to several of these public utilities companies as follows.

The mines of the country have ample productive capacity and at the present time we have sufficient men to produce all the coal required to meet the needs of the country.

The only restricting factor in the production of coal is the deficiency in transportation. This analyzes itself into the switchmen's strike car shortage, inadequate terminal facilities, insufficient motive power and an unusual demand upon the resources of the railroads. Of all these points of difficulty, the car shortage is dominant; the other aggravate and multiply it and the total result is of paramount importance.

The effect at the present time is that the country is without any accumulated storage. The demand exceeds the production. Relief is not in sight. Should this situation extend to the fall months, with the accompanying increase of consumption, the result would surely approach a fuel famine, with all its direct and indirect effect.

The question of the country's coal supply is of equal interest to producer and consumer and the object of this statement is in no way intended to promote the selfish interest of any one interested party. It is presented upon the broad basis of the general welfare of all concerned.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fish of Indianapolis will spend the week-end here the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Frazee of North Harrison street.

CAN BRYAN BE ABLE TO REPEAT

Johnson, Judge of the Ohio Supreme Court, today told delegates to the Democratic national convention, placing Ohio's three-time Governor in nomination for President of the United States.

Naming Ohio as the pivotal state in the coming campaign, Judge Johnson—not a delegate himself, but presented to the convention by the Ohio delegation—said in no state would the issues of the campaign be felt more deeply than in Ohio home also of Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee.

Johnson outlined the record of Cox in Ohio, praised his war work and his civil administration in Ohio. "If he was masterful and efficient in civil administration he was superb as the leader of the people in preparing for and prosecuting war," said Judge Johnson.

"Confident that close examination by a great, free and intelligent people will disclose that our governor is a splendid example of what America can do, and that he meets the needs of the hour, the Democracy of Ohio, with entire unanimity, brings to the Democracy of the nation this great practical and successful leader and statesman.

Judge Johnson's speech follows:

"I speak for a mighty state. The election this year will fix the status of America for a generation. Not only will it decide whether we shall take our rightful place at the very head of the nations in a united effort for civilization, or shall lapse into sullen ostracism in the face of opportunities for service to humanity which no people ever had; but it will also decide whether the domestic progress and vast productive energies of this continent shall be turned back into reactionary channels after a period of splendid achievement in Democratic administration.

"Before November comes, the people of every state will be profoundly touched with the vast importance of this issue, but in no state more deeply than in Ohio.

"We, in Ohio, feel that we are a cosmopolitan people in a large and unusual sense. Gathered in its citizenship are train of blood from every race and every clime. We feel the heartbeats, the triumphs and the sufferings of all the world.

"In the early days the Cavaliers of the South, the Puritans of New England the Holland Dutch of New York, the Pennsylvania Germans and the Maryland Irish all sent pioneers to Ohio. These, with the sturdy immigrants from the old country, met upon our soil, mingled their blood and began the construction of a great commonwealth. All stood equal, and under the inspiration of the Revolution and the pure and benign influences of nature they began in Ohio and extended throughout the Northwest an era of progress and prosperity not seen before among men.

"When this country was forced into the great world war, our people, in common with their fellow countrymen in all of the states, were thrilled by the call of the great man who sits in the seat of Washington and Lincoln, and who with superb spirit and matchless phrase interpreted the highest aspirations and the inviolable purpose of the free peoples of the earth. If envy, hatred and passion shall deprive him of his just recognition now, and deprive his country and humanity of the benefits of his vast service in their behalf, succeeding generations will pay increasing devotion to his honor. The mighty appeal he made to the resistless forces of civilization will place him among the colossal figures in the history of mankind.

"As we enter the great contest now impending, our opponents fan every flame of discontent, in order to carry the election. Unmindful and regardless of the effect on the welfare of the Republic, and on the orderly processes of society, they arouse bitter prejudice and set in motion forces which it is easy to see may become absolutely uncontrollable. They do not hesitate to cast a cloud on the glory won for our country, by the millions of our boys who grandly carried the flag to the battlefields of Europe and with unconquerable spirit placed it at the very front of the columns of civilization. All the world felt that democracy, freedom and friendship had a new meaning in the earth.

"The American people must now decide whether that proud position which our soldiers and our people won shall be abandoned or whether we shall show ourselves worthy of the inheritance we have enjoyed.

"With him as your candidate Ohio is Democratic and with Ohio Democratic, victory is yours.

"Every four years Americans drink anew at the fountains of freedom and enthusiasm. Is it hard to overstate the enormous educational value of a presidential election to our people. The youth of the land receives instruction that fixes its faith in the Republic upon sure foundations, and it receives widespread education on public questions. It is one of the finest things in our national life. To every lover of freedom it is inspiring.

"What a grand thing it is to witness the scenes of the national conventions of the two great parties of our country. In no other country, since men began to consult together, could such a thing be seen as we see every four years. But not in the exciting scenes of these conventions is the final choice to be made. In the quiet times between now and the election in the summer and autumn the records of the parties and the candidates will pass in review before the American people, in the homes, in the hamlets, in the great centres of commerce and industry, before the humblest and the highest; and when the golden glories of au-

turn have come, the mature judgment of the people will be expressed.

"They know enough to know that the road to the re-establishment of durable peace and progress is arduous. They know that the recuperative spirit that was placed by the Creator in every race, in every time, will reassert itself and that in the new day that will come out of the suffering and lessons of the great struggle through which we have just passed, and the new social fabric that has been woven by an unseen, omnipotent power, America must take her proper place; that while maintaining untarnished and untouched the grand institutions of freedom prepared for us by the forefathers, these institutions must be used as the forefathers themselves declared, for the benefit of humanity.

"Confident that his close examination by a great free and intelligent people will disclose that our Governor is a splendid example of what America can do, and that he meets the needs of the hour, the Democracy of Ohio, with entire unanimity brings to the Democracy of the nation this great, practical and successful leader and statesman.

"Ohio nominates for President of this country James M. Cox."

Introducing the Bassarisk.

Ever meet a bassarisk? No, not a bassarisk; that is something different. A bassarisk is a cacomixle. But the animal is better known as the "civet cat"—though why so called nobody knows, inasmuch as it is not a civet and not a cat.

It is a strange little creature, related to the raccoon, with a very long, bushy tail ringed in black and white. Sometimes it is called a "ring-tailed cat" and sometimes a "cat-squirrel!"—the latter designation bestowed on account of its squirrel-like habit of climbing trees and nesting in hollow branches.

Like a cat, it catches rats, mice and small birds. It is about 18 inches long, not counting the tail, which measures another 16 inches. In color it is brownish gray. It is a night prowler, like a cat, and often makes its home in outbuildings and deserted ranch houses.

The civet cat ranges from Mexico and Texas to California and as far north as southern Oregon. Occasionally it is kept in captivity as a pet.

ENTIRE FIELD IS CUT

Wheat cutting in this county is in full swing and many reports have come in where wheat has been cut. One of the first reports to come in where an entire field has been cut, comes from the Joe Cowing farm southwest of this city. The farm is occupied by Henry Halterman and from all reports is one of the best crops that has ever been cut on that farm and from all indications it will take an extra good yield to beat it.

Amusements

Comedy at My-Ho Friday

An effervescent comedy without the slap-stick effect, is what critics have called the new Universal comedy, "Everything But the Truth." This new five-act feature is from the story by Edgar Franklin. It is an admirable starring vehicle for Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran, which comes to the Mystic Theatre on Friday.

According to reports that have preceded the comedy here, "Everything But the Truth," is a photoplay replete with humorous situations that have been made the most of by the two Universal stars.

The story concerns two young couples, one of them engaged, and the other newly married. The bride and groom have a little suburban love nest next door to the bungalow the prospective Benedict has prepared for his future wife.

Their affairs seem hopelessly tangled when the unmarried man and his neighbor's wife are held prisoners all night in a deserted farm house by an escaped lunatic. The true sounds so improbable that they invent another. It is soon punctured and more falsehoods have to be told. There are many laughable incidents in the mix-up before everything is satisfactorily explained.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. Yet now, at an age over 60, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs." Mr. Brittain certified further:

INDIAN'S SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

"At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an ointment that he asserted would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days."

After hair growth

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

It has been proved in very many cases that hair roots did not die even when the hair fell out through dandruff, fever, alopecia areata or certain other hair or scalp disorders. Miss A. D. Otto reports: "About 8 years ago my hair began to fall out until my scalp in spots was almost entirely bald. I used everything that was recommended but was always disappointed until at last I came across Kotalko. My bald spots are being covered now; the growth is already about three inches." G. W. Mitchell reports: "I had spots completely bald, over which hair is now growing since I used Kotalko." Mrs. Maxwell reports: "The whole front of my head was as bald as the palm of my hand for about 15 years. Since using Kotalko, hair is growing all over the place that was bald. Many more splendid, convincing reports from satisfied users."

Mrs. John H. Frazee delightfully entertained the members of the Woman's Christian Missionary Society of the Main Street Christian church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her home in North Harrison street. The event was in the form of a reception for the national president, Mrs. Atwater, of St. Louis, who gave a very interesting talk on "Christian Stewardship," and for the state president, Mrs. J. D. Case of this city. The society also welcomed the new president, Mrs. P. H. Chadwick and gave a farewell to the out-going president, Mrs. Joe Amos, who has efficiently served in the office of president during the past year.

A special musical program was given including a vocal solo by Mrs. Derby Green, a violin solo by Miss Janet Dean and a piano solo by Miss Brenda Kinsinger. Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Voorn of St. Louis, and a former pastor of the Christian church were guests at the meeting.

"Schopenhauer's Bible."

The "Oupnek-hat" is a Latin translation of the "Upanishads," made by Anquetil-Duperron, from a Persian version of the Sanscrit original, which was published at Strassburg, in two volumes quarto, 1801-1802, under the title "Oupnek'hat, id est, Secretum Legendum." It consists of a group of treatises, expounding a general system of mystical pantheism, which arose as a development of the more theosophic element in the Vedas. It is believed that this influenced Schopenhauer not a little in his writings.

RUSHVILLE WILL BE QUIET ON MONDAY

PICNIC PARTIES TO PREVAIL

Practically all business in this city will be on a stand-still Monday, when all stores, banks, postoffice and business firms will close for the day to observe the Fourth of July. As the Fourth this year falls on Sunday, the business houses will honor the occasion on Monday July 5.

As Rushville has provided no special entertainment for that day, the city is expected to be very quiet, when the citizens flock to other cities where large entertainments have been planned.

The postoffice will be closed all day it being the only day of the year that it makes no city or rural deliveries during the day. Only special deliveries and perishable parcels will be delivered Monday, and the windows will remain closed.

All banks and practically all business houses will observe the Fourth of July Monday. Most of the dry good stores will close at least part of the day to give their employees a holiday. The usual picnic and automobile parties will be abundant. The Daily Republican will issue no paper on that day, it being one of the three holidays of the year this newspaper observes.

The term "Grand Old Man" was applied to Mr. Gladstone in 1882, and is accredited to John Bright, who used it in a speech that year in Northampton, England. In America the phrase was appropriated and changed by members of the Republican party, who affectionately called it the "Grand Old Party." This at once became a newspaper slogan and in the headlines was shortened to "G. O. P."

Sugar Cane.

The leaves of the sugar cane are long and narrow, and the stalks are hard and thick. It looks very much like growing corn, but grows somewhat taller—at times as high as 15 to 18 feet. After the cane ripens, it is cut and taken to a sugar mill.

HAVANA IS VERY PROSPEROUS CITY

Cuba Not Satisfied to Bask in Tropical Sunshine But is Working Hard Today

STILL CLINGS TO OLD WAYS

In Comparison With 20 Years Ago Cuba's Foreign Trade Has Increased About 700 Percent

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Havana, June 29.—Havana is happy and carefree these days. It ought to be. It never was so prosperous.

And while thousands upon thousands of dollars were left in Cuba by American and European tourists last winter—dollars freely spent by opulent business men and sportsmen—the island republic has not been satisfied to pocket that amount and bask in its tropical sunshine in idleness. It has been at work. It is working hard today.

Hardly does a visitor to beautiful Havana—so Spanish to the core in tradition and appearance—pass old Morro castle and enter the harbor before he gets the lasting impression that Cuba is prosperous—but busy. Tugs, launches, lighters and ferries are constantly scurrying across the water from pier to ship and ship to pier. Cranes are busy loading and unloading the big vessels crowded into the heretofore ample harbor.

Ashore it is the same. The city's real population of about 425,000 appears double that number as people rush through the narrow streets that form the old-town section. Neatly uniformed and polite traffic officers direct the steady stream of pedestrians and automobiles and street cars up one street and down another in a fashion that puts New York and Chicago in the "piker" class. Shops, banks, restaurants, saloons are crowded.

There is the same rat-tat-tat of the electric rivet drivers on steel skeletons that later will be modern business houses. Old churches, stores and residences—relics of an ancient Spanish period—are coming down. New and roomier structures are taking their places. But with all the commercial spell that has come over the "Pearl of the Antilles" it still clings stubbornly to its picturesque settings, appearance, customs and manner of life.

It would take a dozen generations of "civilization americana" to change Cuba. They will trade with us, invite us to drink their "salvado" and "horchata" with them and will sit with us around their roulette wheels. But they insist on remaining Cuban—with all the trimmings of Latin culture and habits.

Today more than three-quarters of Cuba's foreign commerce is with the United States. In 1918 Cuba's total foreign trade was $682,408,000. Of this amount $499,403,000 was with the United States. The balance of trade is in favor of Cuba in its dealings with the world. The island's total imports in the same year amounted to $304,624,000 while its exports totaled $379,784,000.

In comparison with 20 years ago, Cuba's foreign trade has increased about 700 per cent while in the last ten years it has tripled in value. In 1900 the total of imports and exports was $716,910,000. In 1910 it was $217,485,000.

TELEPHONE GIRL RETIRES AT 80

Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews Has Been on The Telephone Exchange in Hull, England For 21 Years

HAS HAD COMPLETE CHARGE

Resigned Her Position Because They Were Going to Reduce Her Wages—To Get Pension

By NINA BANORRAFT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Hull, England, (By Mail).—England's oldest telephone "girl" has just put aside her receiver and abandoned her switchboard, at the age of 80.

For twenty-one years Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews has been on the exchange and during that time she has contemplated much on the wisdom of "old man Andrews." According to the tale she told, it happened this wise:

"Twenty-one years ago the National Telephone Company came to our cottage and asked by late husband if we would have the exchange here. At first he refused, but at last he consented and signed the agreement.

"But he would never attend to the switchboard and he wouldn't ever learn how to work the plugs because he said if he did he would always have to do it."

Here the old lady smiled reminiscently as she recalled the smartness of her spouse in taking the appointment and leaving her, to do all the work. However, she had no grumble on that score.

"At first there were only six subscribers," she explained. "But later the thing grew until now we have 100 subscribers. For about ten years I had to do all the calls, night and day. It was very bad when the military were here and worst of all on Zeppelin alarm nights. There was no bed for me then. One week there were alarms every night and I had to remain at the switchboard, only going to bed at 5 in the morning."

Then she explained what even-

1918—Member United States labor commission to Great Britain.
1919—Elected president Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.
1920—Appointed Secretary of Agriculture by President Wilson.

Those who have met Alfred E. Smith, Governor of New York, say he never forgets a name or face. This fact, they assert, accounts as much as any other factor for his success throughout the state and the country.

Smith's wide acquaintance with the people of affairs was gained during his ten years' membership in the New York assembly. It was in 1915 that Philip Root, chairman of the constitution convention, said Smith was the best informed man in state government he had ever seen.

Smith's election as a New York City Democrat to the governorship was a monster expression of New York's belief that the youthful assemblyman—a leader at Albany for ten years—would be able to reconstruct the state's government and handle after-war problems. He was given the largest plurality ever accorded a New York governor, and was the first Democrat from New York City to be elected Governor in more than fifty years.

"Al" Smith was born in New York City in 1873. He attended parochial and public schools of the city, and on finishing his education he entered the trucking business, in which his father was engaged. In 1895 he was appointed a clerk in the office of the Commissioner of Jurors, holding this position until he was elected to the state assembly in 1903.

Smith was re-elected annually to the assembly, and gradually rose to prominence in the state's lawmaking body. In 1911 Smith was Democratic leader in the assembly, holding the chairmanship of the Ways and Means committee. The following year he was floor leader, and in 1913 was the unanimous choice of the Democrats for speaker of the House.

He was a member of the state constitutional convention, and was the acknowledged fountain of information and advice on questions of state government and functions. In 1915 Smith was elected sheriff of New York county (Manhattan). His plurality was 46,202, which was 20,000 votes ahead of the ticket.

In 1917 he was elected president of the board of aldermen of the Greater city. The next fall he was nominated and elected Governor by a majority of 15,000 votes over Charles S. Whitman, incumbent. The total vote cast for Smith was 1,001,936.

One of the first acts of the Governor was to appoint a reconstruction commission composed of industrial and financial leaders from every section of the state, to deal with post-war problems. And, although facing a hostile legislature, a large part of his program for reorganization and consolidation of state offices was passed.

Governor Smith is married and has five children.

Success has crowned every business enterprise E. T. Meredith, Secretary of Agriculture, ever embarked upon. At the age of ten, Meredith was, practically a penniless child on an Iowa farm. Today, he is publisher of one of the largest farm journals in the United States, Successful Farming and is reputed to be a millionaire.

Meredith recently gave out his "rule for success". It was "integrity, industry and imagination". "Imagination spells the difference between little success and big success," he added.

Meredith's rise to wealth and standing reads as fiction. He was born on a farm near Avoca, Ia., Dec. 23, 1876. He attended a "little red school house" and later went to high school at Avoca.

Early in life Meredith was given an opportunity to develop his money-making qualities. At thirteen his father gave him a runt pig and told him he might raise it and sell it. Meredith watched over that pig as a nurse does a child, his father said, and when the pig was ready for the market the runt had grown to be one of the largest in the neighborhood. This sale of the pig gave Meredith his first dollars.

Meredith worked on his father's farm until 19, then desiring an education he came to Des Moines and entered Highland Park college. He paid for his college expenses by doing odd jobs, working as a waiter in a lunchroom and tending furnaces in the winter.

After graduation, Meredith, then 21, accepted a position paying $8 a week on his grandfather's paper the Farmers' Tribune. The Tribune was a political organ supporting the Greenback party and its sympathizers could almost be counted on one's fingers. After struggling along for four or five years, Meredith's grandfather sold the paper to Meredith and a printed employed on the paper.

Meredith pursued the political policies of the Tribune for several years, and then, after becoming sole owner, revolutionized the Tribune. He first changed the name of the paper from the Tribune to Successful Farming. Then he dropped politics. Today the circulation of Successful Farming is said to be 800,000.

Meredith, through his paper, led the "back to the farm" movement. He was also one of the originators of the boy's calf and pig clubs.

Meredith also publishes several children's magazines.

But while Meredith has been extremely successful in the business world, he has not been so fortunate in politics. In 1914 he was a candidate for United States senator and was defeated by a large majority. In 1916 he was nominated at the Democratic candidate for governor of Iowa. He ran on a "good roads" platform but was overwhelmingly defeated.

Meredith's hobbies are work and the agriculture department. He has an engaging personality and is an appealing orator.

A Laundry Service Within Every Woman's Means

It is here for you in this Family Service we offer.
What is most disagreeable on washday? Isn't it the mussiness of wash water; the steam of boilers and tubs, the lifting and hauling?
And it's of that we relieve you—at a cost truly moderate.

We take your family bundle, wash it sweetly clean in soothingly soft waters and billowy, glistening suds; and, rinse it many times in more water sparklingly pure.

Next we daintily iron the flat pieces; the things like bath towels we dry softly and fluffily—they need no ironing; the other pieces that require it we starch and make ready for you to iron in your home.

In a word, we do all the toilsome, mussy work of washday, and leave for you only the milder, pleasanter task of ironing the lighter pieces.

It's truly economical service within the means of every woman—we're sure you'll like it immensely.

Telephone, we'll welcome an opportunity to tell you more about it.

Swimming One Branch of Athletics
State Has Been Slow in Developing Champions

SCHOOLS ARE FORMING TEAMS

With Amateur Athletic Union Organized Followers of The Sports Are Showing They Are Awake.

By HEZE CLARK

Indianapolis, Ind., July 1—Swimming is one branch of athletic sports in which the state of Indiana has been slow in developing champions.

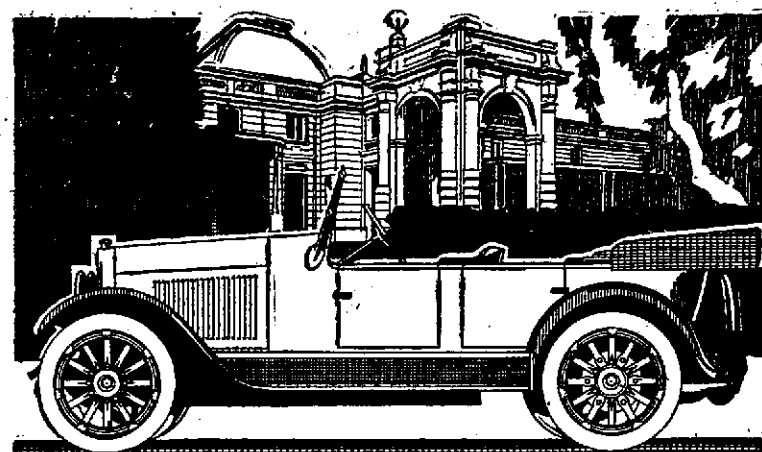

This is no doubt due to the fact that there were few indoor swimming pools in the state until recent years.

With the organizing of the Amateur Athletic Union with headquarters in Indianapolis and the holding of several national championships here last month the followers of the aquatic sport are showing they are awake.

It must be admitted that in the northern Indiana lake region where summer camps and cottages are the mecca of high school and college athletes, swimming has become a fine art. This is true along the Ohio river and the Wabash and there is hardly a city but what boasts a champion swimmer.

However a real champion is a man that can enter some of the national swimming events and compete with the wonderful swimmers as have been developed in Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and San Francisco. This class of champion swimmers is still lacking in the Hoosier State with a few exceptions. For example Thelma Darby, holder of one world's record for women swimmers is a girl from Indiana.

To develop speedy "water dogs" it is necessary to put the athletes through a long course of training. The crawl stroke must be brought to a state of perfection while the physical condition of the athlete must be perfect. This can not be done merely in the summer months when out door swimming is in vogue but

SO definite has been the public's acceptance of Hot Spot and Ram's horn and so highly efficient has the Chalmers become as a result of their use that these two devices now influence a nation.

1—They have made buyers of cars insist on an engine that would get out the power that nature stored away in gasoline.

2—They have caused a decided demand for less vibration in a car with the attendant results of longer life and more comfort.

3—They have caused an insistence for the elimination of frequent spark plug fouling, burned bearings, scored cylinders—eliminations which lower the cost of maintenance.

4—They have caused an emphatic demand for cool running on a hot day and quick starting on a cold day.

In other words, the acceptance by the public of Hot Spot and Ram's horn have recast standards of judging motor cars and this influence now is felt wherever cars are built.

For Hot Spot and Ram's horn accomplish much by transforming raw, heavy fuel into fine, smooth power and providing new virtues that buyers now seek in a motor car.

Hence the growth in public belief that Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

the swimmer must have an indoor tank in which to train during the winter.

Purdue, DePauw, Franklin, Indiana University and other schools are developing swimming teams. The schools as a whole in Indiana are still backward in this important branch of athletics but as more of them get new gymnasiums, with swimming tanks the aquatic sport develops.

The Y. M. C. A. in various Indiana cities has taken a lead in developing swimming champions. The "Y" athletic directors deserve much credit for teaching many young men to swim and many would of course never be champions for they lack the natural ability to swim fast.

There is one man today who is doing more than any other to place Indiana in the front rank with a champion swimming team. That man is Paul R. Jordan. Twenty years ago he was a member of the Indiana University track team in those days.

In late years Jordan is a successful Indianapolis business man but takes time from his business and coaches swimmers at the Indianapolis Y. M. C. A. He has developed some wonderful young "water dogs" and their perfect style is due to the careful training of Jordan.

While it is difficult to finance a big swimming meet it would be a big boost to Indiana athletics if a state championship swimming meet could be held out of doors at the close of the present summer when the athletes are in good condition after trips to camp on lakes and rivers.

finally made her kick over the traces. "It has never been a very good paying job," she said. "Before I received the war bonus I was only getting 12s 10d a week (about $2.50) and out of that I had to find coals and oil for a paraffin lamp, as well as clean away the dirt made by people who came to the call office."

Then closing the door so that the new young operator in the parlor switchroom should not hear, she continued:

"I don't know what the authorities are going to do. I have sent my notice in and they can do what they like. They wrote me a letter saying they were going to reduce my money to 10s a week (about $2).

That maddened me and I sent in my notice."

Then the old lady leaned forward and confided:

"I should have kept it on if it had not been for my eyes. If my sight were as good as my hearing it would have been all right, but things are growing dimmer and I feel I'd like a rest."

Meanwhile, the exchange remains at the cottage, and the Corporation are weaving plans whereby Mrs. Andrews shall receive a goodly pension without any hurt to her pride.
